TROOPS TO MOVE ON MINERS

Governor Glasscock Orders Soldiers to Clear Mountains of Armed Men

Further Fighting Expected in Section Where 16 Were Killed Yesterday

CHARLESTON, W. Va., Feb. 11.—Adjutant General Elliott at daybreak took active command of the disturbed section of the Kanawha coal field, where almost a score of miners and guards were killed in yesterday's battles.

With a provisional regiment of five companies he moved out from Paint Creek Junction, two being sent to the Cabin creek district, where trouble was expected today, and three, under command of Major Thomas D. Davis, taking the road to Mucklow, where yesterday's fighting was fiercest.

Orders were issued to clear the mountains of armed men. Governor Glasscock and the finance committee of the legislature in session here conferred until late in the morning and at the termination of the conference it became known that the commander of every military company in the State had been ordered to hold his men in readiness for immediate service.

SIXTEEN ARE KILLED. In a clash near Mucklow yesterday sixteen persons were killed and probably two-score injured. Twelve of the dead were miners and four were State officers.

Five companies of State militia ordered out last night by Governor Glasscock reached the strike zone by midnight. A sixth company was on the way, due to reach the troubled district some time this morning.

Trouble in the mine districts began in April, 1912. Since that time the militia has twice invaded the Paint and Cabin creek districts of Kanawha county. The first time martial law was declared at an end. Within a week the troops were ordered back.

Hanlon walked out of a second-story window in his sleep. He says he was dreaming there was an earthquake.

In his downward trip he stuck a leg through the window of Harry James, another roomer on the floor below, sending a shout to that peaceful sleeper, who awoke to hear a crash and to see a white-robed figure sitting through the midnight air.

Tahoe Keeper Lost In Snows, Feared By Searching Party

Weather Record Only Clue to Missing Man; Left Claim in Severe Storm.

TRUCKEE, Cal., Feb. 11.—It is feared here that Sebastian Shorer, keeper of Deer Park Inn at Lake Tahoe, has been lost in the snow between Tahoe and the inn, as he has not been seen since January 14 at 5 o'clock, when he departed from Tahoe, making his way toward his home in the blinding snowstorms that were raging at that time. The night he left Tahoe he made the statement he did not like the idea of going home in the snow, as he was not sure of his way. It is now feared he wandered from the trail and was lost in the blinding storm.

Monday a searching party consisting of William Mayou, Steve Mondo, Edmond Hawkins and Bob Watson went back to the inn to find if Shorer had left letters or anything whereby clues might be had as to the manner of his disappearance. They found a daily weather record that he was in the habit of keeping. It was marked to January 14, the day he left Tahoe.

The situation in this city was quiet today. The rioting of last night, in which 70 persons were killed or seriously injured, ceased in the early hours of the morning. The severe cold compelled the mobs to seek shelter.

FEDERAL TROOPS SLOWLY CLOSE IN ON REBEL ENEMY

Rival Armies Take Up Positions in City of Mexico; Fighting Starts in Streets; Government Troops Fire at Revolutionists

Big United States Battleships Put Out From Guantanamo at 2 a. m., Bound for Scene of Trouble; Virginia and Georgia Will Protect U. S. Interests

HUERTA PLACES POLICE IN U. S. DISTRICT

LAREDO, Texas, Feb. 11.—Reports received here assert that at 10:15 o'clock this morning hostilities between the federals and rebels began in Mexico City, the federal army opening fire on the rebels. The federals have artillery, including machine guns, placed near the National Theater and are bombarding the rebels.

At 11 a. m. the federals were reported making an attack on the arsenal. They were led by General Blanquet. At this time President Madero was in communication with Monterey, Mexico.

CLOSE IN ON REBELS.

MEXICO CITY, Feb. 11.—The rebels and the federal troops in the Mexican capital have taken up positions and the government troops are slowly closing in on the rebels.

Madero has a total of not less than 6000 soldiers in the city and expects further reinforcements shortly. Felix Diaz, the rebel leader, has some 3000 men under his command. The advantage given him by the capture of the artillery has now been lost, since the government has had time to bring up field guns even from as far as Cuernavaca.

IN HEART OF CAPITAL.

The scene of the battle is in the very heart of the Mexican capital. Should the cannon of the opposing forces come into action bursting shells will inevitably do enormous damage to the buildings in the commercial and residential quarters. A considerable part of the structures in both sections are occupied by foreign residents. The cable office is directly in the line of fire.

Fighting has been in progress in the streets of the city since 10 o'clock this morning. Neither the rebels nor the federals had obtained any advantage up to mid-afternoon. The action was accompanied by heavy artillery fire.

"Hayne, Seales and myself will not plead guilty," said Mr. Brown, "for the reason that we would perjure ourselves if we did so, as we are not guilty of a single one of the charges that have been made against us."

U. S. Battleships Are Rushed to Mexico

WASHINGTON, Feb. 11.—The battleships Virginia and Georgia of the Atlantic fleet put out from Guantanamo at 2 a. m. today for Mexico. The Virginia will go to Vera Cruz and the Georgia to Tampico.

Pedro Lacurain, Mexican minister for foreign affairs, telegraphed today also embassy here:

"Reported resignation of President Madero absolutely false. The governors of the states remain faithful. The capital is in the hands of the government, rebels holding only to the arsenal."

Unconfirmed reports are received here that Zacatecas and Oaxaca have declared for Diaz, who is quoted as saying that he expected to avoid more bloodshed, and to arrange, if possible, a good issue from negotiations being carried on with General Huerta.

Organization of the foreign guard is progressing and in response to Ambassador Wilson's representations Huerta has placed military police in the American residential district.

Vera Cruz, where the battleship Virginia is bound, is out of from reliable information from the Mexican capital and the people are excited over a rumor that the rebels are planning to attack the seaport.

Madero Sends His Assurance by Wire

LAREDO, Tex., Feb. 11.—Mexican Consul Antonio Lozano of Laredo was in direct telegraphic communication with President Madero last night. In order to secure first-hand news regarding the situation in Mexico, the consul crossed to Nuevo Laredo, Mex., and procured a direct wire connection with Madero's office in Mexico City.

Consul Lozano propounded a series of questions to the Mexican executive to set at rest disquieting rumors which had been in circulation. President Madero dictated his replies to the operator. He assured Consul Lozano that neither he nor his family had sought refuge in flight.

Replying to a report that General Blanquet had deserted, Madero said: "It is not true that General Blanquet has refused to fight for the government, and at this moment he enters my office to announce his arrival in the city."

Questioned as to the report that Felix Diaz controlled the situation, Madero said: "The report that Felix Diaz controls the points of vantage in and about the city is incorrect. He has not dared to leave the 'La Ciudadela,' or powder and arms factory, which occupies one public square and which really is his possession."

SON KILLS HIMSELF. Madero said it was true that Rodolfo Reyes, son of General Bernardino Reyes, had committed suicide following the killing of his father. He denied a report that Monterey was in possession of the rebels.

General Gerónimo Trevino is in charge of the situation there," he said. "and is loyal to the performance of his duty—loyal to the constituted government and the Madero administration. I place implicit confidence in General Trevino."

Questioned as to the presence of Zapata's force at Tlalpam, five miles south of Mexico City, Madero said: "It is a lie that Zapata is anywhere near Tlalpam. Perhaps the people have confounded his force with a small body of bandits which has been operating in that vicinity."

He also denied that his cabinet had resigned, saying: "I am not sure that the cabinet has resigned and the proof of this is that the minister of war, as well as the others, have been doing all in their power to assist the government at the present time."

REITERATES CONFIDENCE. President Madero reiterated the confidence that the government had in the situation well in hand and hoped to effect the capture of the Diaz forces within 24 hours.

The President declared he was going to Chapultepec, and it possible would grant another wire interview to the consul today.

It is believed a man named McDonald is being sought by the Los Angeles county officials in connection with the disappearance of the check. Rankin and Rockwell are the subjects of the disappearance of the check. Rankin was found at the office in Los Angeles.

According to Sub-prefecto Guerrero, Marquez, who shot Rankin, was assigned to patrol outside the limits of Tijuana and at no time had he the right to come within the territorial limits of the United States.

Gray Hair Restored

This Simple Home Remedy Darkens It Beautifully.

There is no longer any reason why any person with gray hair should not remove this annoying sign of age and remain in the youthful-looking class; and the best part of it is that one does not have to depend upon the prepared dyes and stains to bring about the desired change. A simple preparation which gradually darkens gray hair, making it soft and glossy and perfectly natural in color and appearance, can be made from an ounce of bay rum, a quarter ounce of glycerine and a small box of Barbo Compound, procurable at any drug store. Dissolve the Barbo Compound in 7 ounces of water, then add the bay rum and glycerine and you will have a splendid hair restorer, as well as an excellent remedy for dandruff and other humors of the scalp. It also acts as a tonic to the hair follicles, is not sticky, does not rub off or color the scalp, and is both cheap and highly satisfactory in any way. Make sure you are getting Barbo Compound. If the druggist hasn't it in stock, ask him to get it for you.

POLITICS IN SCHOOLS WILL BE ALLOWED, IS DECISION

Miss Baxley to Have Hearing; Directors Boyle and Brown Win in Controversy

A verbal storm, similar to that of the week before, when a crowd of lobbyists appeared to protest against different actions proposed by the Board of Education, was averted last night when, at the meeting of that body, before the biggest crowd of protesters ever assembled in the board rooms, the board capitulated on every point demanded.

The meeting was a victory for Directors Harry Boyle and Miss Annie Florence Brown, who were behind the measures in contention. As the result of the meeting, Miss Alice Baxley, transferred principal, will be given a formal hearing tonight; the action establishing intermediate high schools at the Dewey and Emerson schools was rescinded, and political parties were granted the use of schoolrooms for meetings. The latter two points were bitterly fought by Boyle and Miss Brown, and, in the latter case, by Directors Kelly and Cook at the end. Directors Bronner, Orr and Forrest remained firm against allowing political discussions in the schoolrooms, but were voted down.

The Baxley hearing was decided upon without dissent. The committee report was read, the superintendent recommended the hearing and the vote was taken at once. Several letters from residents in the Fruitvale district, urging a trial for the teacher, were read. The hearing will take place tonight in the board room, before the Baxley committee, the defendant, her attorneys, and representatives of the press. The public will not be admitted, but full reports will be given out, the idea of the exclusion being to avoid heated discussion, disturbances and overcrowding the place.

MEASURE RESCINDED.
Superintendent J. W. McClelland, who last week recommended the adoption of a report on minor matters, thus rescinding the action of the board of their guard recommended that the action be rescinded, and that the matter be discussed in committee. Director Boyle had announced that he was to have a hearing, but this action was taken by Dr. J. E. King, president of the Federated Improvement clubs of North Oakland, spoke on the matter.

"We had the schools built for the small children," he declared, "and do not want them overcrowded by the others. We overcame obstacles, even under the old charter, and do not now propose to have the result of our work injured by this plan." A large delegation was present, and the matter not been rescinded.

The matter of political discussions in the schools was settled without discussion. Miss Brown presented a resolution drawn up by her, that provisions be made for the schools to be allowed assembly halls for meetings, spitting, smoking, liquor and sectarian religious subjects are barred. Obscene language will not be tolerated. Parties using the school rooms will be charged with fees to pay the janitors in charge.

Directors Bronner and Orr spoke in opposition, although they knew, from the committee meeting, that they were in the minority.

"I will not vote to allow politics in the schools," declared Bronner, "and refuse to believe good can come of it."

Orr expressed the same views. Forrest remained silent, but voted against the rule.

BIDS RECEIVED.
Bids were received for the construction of the Fifty-fourth and Market-street school. The lowest bidder was the firm of Boyd & Kerr, who offered to perform the work for $48,800. Other bidders were as follows: Thurston & Co., $57,474; Schnebly, Pedgriff & Hostreuser, $57,472; Van Sant-Houghton Co., $50,971; Wold & Kahn, $54,936; Carnahan & Mulford, $54,233; McLaren & Peterson, $54,559; Central California Construction Co., $55,559; B. Ackerman, $55,737; Roberts Bros. Co., $59,500; G. T. Letter & Son, $58,901; F. Rolanda, $58,900; W. Sorensen, $59,251; and Moore & Burlingame, $56,450.

Director Forrest started three arguments over the matter of purchases. A requisition for music books for schools was objected to by the director on the ground that free text books were being given out by the State. It was explained that the books in question were from the State series books coming into the free class. The purchase of disinfectants, for school use, was also considered unnecessary by Forrest, but this was overruled. A requisition for deodorizers, for use in the medical department, was another point Forrest opposed. These are wooden instruments used in examining children's throats.

"We have manual training schools. They can turn them out. Why buy them?" asked Forrest.

It was explained that the wood must be disinfected and sterilized. Forrest insisted that this also could be done by students, but the board decided that those sold by medical firms were safer, and the requisition was passed.

WILL MAKE REPORT.
Rigid economy will be practiced from now on in the matter of school purchases. The late secretary, R. B. S. York, before the illness which resulted in his death, had warned the board that they faced a deficit in the general fund. The new secretary, A. L. Hannford, who assumed his duties last night, will take up this work where York left it, and will render a report on the funds to the board, and until that time only absolute necessities will be contracted for.

The proposal of a local typewriter firm to furnish machines free to schools, provided only one kind are used was rejected by the board, on the ground that it could not lend itself to an advertising scheme. The board refused to sign for school property on a petition to repair Maczenta avenue, taking the stand that it preferred to remain neutral in the matter. Edward Hull presented the petition. On Director Boyle's motion, it will be taken up next Monday, when, if no protest is made, the board will sign the petition. A. C. Lane, a contractor, building a fence about the Longfellow school, was paid for what work was accepted. A portion of the fence was rejected as poor work by the city engineer. This he will receive no compensation for until the work is brought to the standard set.

GETS NEW GAVEL.
A new gavel, presented to the chair by Director Brown, made its first appearance last night. It is of ebony, silver mounted. President Orr extended thanks for the gift. Miss May Swift of the Manual Training High School and Miss M. Culp of the Fremont school were granted leaves of absence. A Spanish course will be started in the Oakland High School on the recommendation of Superintendent McClelland.

The Home Economics Association was granted the use of the Chabot Assembly Hall for their meeting this month. Lester C. Cole, temporarily residing in Berkeley, and Mary Cole, were allowed admittance to the Oakland schools. An inspector of brickwork for new school work will be appointed on the motion of Director Forrest, to insure good construction in this line.

Miss A. E. Newman, a teacher in the Oakland schools, vaccinated at the order of the board, was reported extremely ill as a result. On the motion of Director Forrest she will be reimbursed for the inconvenience. Several other sick cases will receive the same consideration. Rock on the Emerson school yard was ordered removed. Bids were submitted for fences about playground swings, but the matter laid over until the next fiscal year.

DUSTER IS BARRED.
The feather duster is barred from the Oakland schools. Damp cloths must in future be used, as more sanitary. This rule was adopted at the motion of Director Brown, who read a Russell Sage foundation report on the duster.

Instructions to this effect were sent all janitors today.

In the passage of a resolution the Board of Education last night paid its final tribute to the memory of the late R. B. S. York, secretary of the board, when, amid a hush, with bowed heads, the board passed a measure read by Secretary Hannford, successor in the office vacated by the veteran educator. The resolution, drawn up by J. R. Turner, who served as clerk of the board during York's illness, was as follows:

"IN MEMORIAM.
"Mr. R. B. S. York, clerk of the High School Board and Deputy Superintendent of Schools, died of illness on several weeks, passed away on Sunday, February 2, 1913.

"Mr. York began his service in the Oakland School Department July 1, 1895, at which time he became assistant superintendent of schools. From that time until his last illness he was a most faithful and efficient officer, and his death is a great loss to the department. He was a most careful stewardship of public funds, and his character and respect of all who knew him.

"His personal virtues, kindness of heart, sincerity and honest purpose, and his love for truth, combined with a most attractive personality, won for him the universal personal esteem of all who knew him.

"The High School Board of the City of Oakland hereby resolves: That in the passing of Mr. R. B. S. York, clerk of the High School Board and Deputy Superintendent of Schools, the Oakland School Department has lost a most faithful and efficient officer, the value of whose services is beyond expression; and that members of the board mourn his loss as that of a personal friend;

"And be it further resolved, That this memorial be made part of the minutes of this board, and a copy of same forwarded to the family of Mr. York."

CAPTAIN SCOTT'S PARTY FACED DEATH BRAVELY

Rough Notes Found Telling of Last Suffering and Leaving National Appeal

receipts should go to increase the financial reward of the men who had undertaken to share with him the dangers of the Antarctic region.

It was there advanced that the sums realized from the story of the adventure should be distributed among the members of the crew as a surprise bonus on their return to England. Mrs. Scott is assured of a good pension from the British government.

A memorial service for Captain Scott and his companions is to be held in St. Paul's Cathedral on Friday. Flags in all parts of London are flying at half-mast today.

Attained South Pole Month After Amundsen

LONDON, Feb. 11.—Only meager details are available as yet of the polar tragedy which cost the lives of Captain Robert F. Scott and four of his brave companions and which ranks in disastrous results with the ill-fated Franklin expedition.

News of the death of Captain Scott and his men, who succeeded by a final dash in reaching the South Pole, only to be overtaken by the expedition of Amundsen, had forestalled them, came in a brief dispatch from Lieutenant E. R. G. R. Evans of the royal navy, who was second in command when the expedition started, and who now signs as "companion."

STEAMER SIGNALS NEWS.
The message was signaled from the steamer Terra Nova, returning from the Antarctic regions, while passing Oamaru, New Zealand.

The staggering effects of the news on the public mind is all the greater, as it was believed that modern science and recent experience had completely divested polar exploration of its former terrors. No great surprise would have been felt had Captain Scott failed to reach the pole, but that he should perish in his hour of triumph was the very last thing that could be anticipated, and in view of the terrible dangers which still exist, the fate of Captain Scott and his companions is likely to discourage further attempts to reach the poles now that they have been attained and the circumstances of hurried dashes prevent valuable scientific results from being obtained.

RECORDS RECOVERED.
No detailed facts are yet known, but it is believed that records of the scientific material recovered, together with the explorers' bodies, have been recovered.

It also is understood that gallant attempts were made by other members of the expedition to succor the Scott party, but these were defeated by severe weather conditions and lack of food. It seems practically certain that the explorers starved to death.

Dr. Ehrlich Marshall, who was surgeon to the Shackleton expedition, suggested that the Scott party, in the terrible blizzard, may have missed one of its supply depots, which are generally marked by an upturned sledge with a flag lashed to it.

The fact that Captain Amundsen reached his base from that pole in 38 days, while the Scott party had been traveling more than two months when disaster overtook them, is believed to show that Scott must either have met some misfortune, possibly in a crevasse, or encountered a succession of blizzards.

The fact that Petty Officer Evans died from concussion of the brain as early as February 17 seems to indicate some such accident, possibly involving the loss of a portion of the equipment.

Captain Scott died on March 17, which clearly shows that the party was in dire straits and must have undergone terrible sufferings during the remaining 12 days.

No news has been received as to how the fate of Captain Scott and his companions was discovered, but it is assumed that a rescue party was dispatched from the base.

Rescue Party Finds Supplies Untouched

LONDON, Feb. 11.—Further information reaching the Royal Geographical Society says that the rescue party, which left Cape Evans late in October reached One Ton depot and found the provisions in good order.

The party proceeded along the southern route and came upon Scott's tent on November 8. When they lay the bodies of Scott, Wilson and Bowers.

Captain Scott's little son, Peter, is staying with his grandmother at Hanley. The news was broken to him today.

In 1911 Mrs. Scott has cinematograph pictures of Peter at play made and sent them out so his father could see how the boy was growing. It is not known whether Captain Scott ever received them.

The Norwegian discoverer said the lowest average temperature observed in the Antarctic was 15 degrees below zero; that it sometimes reached 60 below and once 75 below, but that, dressed warmly as they were, his men endured the cold with no particular distress.

Captain Oates Faces Antarctic Blizzard

LONDON, Feb. 11.—A number of details of the disaster in which Captain Scott and four of his men perished in the Antarctic are brought here in special dispatches of the Central News Service. Captain Oates evidently set out from the tent in which the four men had all but succumbed to starvation and exhaustion to brave death alone in the blizzard which had overwhelmed them.

After a brave struggle for weeks, with his hands frostbitten, Oates declared to his comrades that he was going to set out in the storm and did not know when he would come back. He left the tent and was never seen again. He evidently knew he was setting out to meet his death alone.

The others later tried to push on, but were forced into camp again on the 23rd of March after nine days' struggle in the blizzard. Food and fuel were both exhausted.

Probably realizing that his party was doomed, Captain Scott entered in his diary four days later, on the 25th of March, "a message to the public." In this he declared that disaster was not due to faulty organization, but to misfortune. He said nobody in the world could expect to successfully encounter such temperatures and storms as they had met on the march, which so retarded their progress. When they entered within 11 miles of One Ton depot they had food for one hot meal and fuel for two days.

The doomed explorer wrote apologetically of his "rough notes." He said these and the bodies must tell the tale. He appealed to his countrymen for the care of those dependent upon the perishing explorers.

According to the special dispatches, the Terra Nova relief party which found the bodies read a simple burial ritual over them. A cairn was erected over the bodies.

The relief expedition then set out in search for the body of Captain Oates, but although they covered over 70 miles, they discovered no trace of his body. It was with great difficulty that the party brought back all of the records, including Amundsen's letter to the king of Norway and a large quantity of geological specimens.

March 25, 1912, the date of Captain Scott's last message to the public, is believed to have been written only four days before death overtook the party.

English Government Will Aid Dependents
LONDON, Feb. 11.—The tragedy of Capt. Robert F. Scott's Antarctic expedition was referred to in the House of Commons by Premier Asquith. Speaking with evident emotion, he said: "We all at this moment are under the deep impression created by the reading of the last message to the world left by Capt. Scott. It is one of the most moving and pathetic utterances in the annals of discovery. It is the message of a brave, enduring man in the face of a most tragic death. His career was one of self-sacrifice and devotion to the service of his country. We can only say that his last appeal will not fall on deaf ears."

The premier so deeply moved that his words were almost inaudible. His closing sentence indicates that the government will take care of the dependents of the dead members of the expedition.

Of the five explorers who perished, Capt. Scott, Dr. Edward Wilson and Petty Officer E. Evans were married. Capt. L. E. G. Oates and Lieut. H. R. Bowers were single.

The merchants and ship owners of Cardiff, from which port the Terra Nova sailed for the Antarctic, are arranging to erect a statue of Captain Scott.

Captain Scott's Widow May Know Sad Fate
SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 11.—The widow of Captain Scott probably knows today that her husband was overwhelmed by a blizzard while making his way back from the South Pole, but how she received the news is blanketed in the silence of the Pacific Ocean.

Mrs. Scott sailed February 5 on the liner Aorangi, bound for Wellington, N. Z. It was impossible to reach her by wireless in daylight hours yesterday, but the sending station believed last night that the Aorangi was in range and repeatedly sent messages.

These should have been received, but the Aorangi's feeble sending apparatus, which has a radius of only about 300 miles, permitted no signal being caught either here or at Honolulu. Today the Aorangi will pass out of range entirely, and, inasmuch as there is neither cable nor wireless at Papeete, Tahiti, or Rarotonga, her next port of call, no further effort will be made to communicate with her.

MAY RELAY MESSAGE.
The liner Tahiti, bound for San Francisco and due to pass the Aorangi next Sunday, has a powerful sending equipment and may pick up a message from the Aorangi and relay it either to Honolulu or the American mainland. Otherwise the Aorangi will not again be in touch with the world before she reaches Wellington, February 27.

President Taft Sends King George Message
WASHINGTON, Feb. 11.—President Taft sent today the following cable message to King George of Great Britain:

"In offering heartfelt condolence on the death of Captain Scott and his companions, I reflect the sentiment of my countrymen who share the sorrow of the British people at the loss of so many noble lives."

Survivor's Wife Lives in Berkeley
BERKELEY, Feb. 11.—George Ponting, F. R. G. S., one of the survivors of the Scott expedition, has a wife in Berkeley who has not heard from him in two years. He has been locked in the barriers of ice since February 1911. He accompanied the expedition as official photographer. He is a camera artist with experience in several wars.

After his arrival in the Antarctic Ponting sent back the first kinematograph pictures ever taken in the vicinity of the south pole. The pictures were taken south of Mount Discovery.

In a letter to his wife at this time Ponting told something of the hardships of the expedition. He had to bundle himself in furs even inside the shelter. He did not even leave an inch of his face exposed to the extreme cold.

Hot Water

The economy of heating water with gas is apparent when it is considered that you consume fuel only when you need hot water. It is not necessary to keep a fire going all day to get hot water now and then.

Both health and cleanliness demand hot water. And the easiest, most economical and most satisfying way to get it is to use gas. This is another instance of the value and convenience of "Pacific Service."

SACRAMENTO, Feb. 11.—State Printer Richardson delivered to the clerks of the legislature yesterday the first copies of the semi-annual histories of the Senate and the Assembly which gives the titles of and the action on all bills, proposed amendments and resolutions introduced in the legislature at the preliminary session. The Assembly history contains 388 pages, the Senate history 304 pages. Ten thousand copies of each are being printed. The first session called for the printing of 8,000,000 copies of bills, amendments and resolutions, of which about 3,000,000 have been printed since adjournment. State Printer Richardson says that all bills will be in the hands of the bill clerks by Wednesday morning.

LAWMAKERS FIND PUZZLE IN LAW

"Wet" and "Dry" Restrictions May Be Cause of Spirited Fight.

SACRAMENTO, Feb. 11.—Liquor legislation promises to be one of the troublesome questions to be handled by the legislature when it reconvenes on March 10.

About twenty bills dealing with saloon regulation introduced in the first half of the session, the hard fight will probably be over those introduced by Assemblymen Ryan and Moorehouse and Senators Owens and Anderson, proposing amendments to the Wyllie local option law.

Ryan and Owens would permit the sale of intoxicants in hotels in "dry" territory. Moorehouse and Anderson would amend the existing law to make the county the local option unit, instead of the supervisorial district. These bills also provide that incorporated towns of 5000 or less inhabitants shall be included in the county unit.

Senator Kehoe's bill, proposing to prohibit the sale of liquor at the San Francisco and San Diego expositions, also probably will be the cause of much contention.

CALIFORNIA LANDS MAY BE EXCHANGED

WASHINGTON, Feb. 11.—California lands, aggregating 250,000 acres, will probably be accepted by the Interior Department, in exchange for land of the United States, settlement of the long pending controversy, despite obstructive litigation against the exchange brought by Fred Lake and others in California.

The attorneys for the department have concluded that the litigation will be defeated, and will probably recommend to Secretary Fisher that the exchange be made despite the technical cloud on the State's title created by the litigation. A portion of the lands in which Louis Davis was interested, is included in the lands to be exchanged.

FRIEDMANN'S CURE DECLARED A FRAUD

Scientist Disbelieves in It, But Says It Might Be a Good Clew.

PASADENA, Feb. 11.—While the turtle serum for the cure of tuberculosis which Dr. F. F. Friedmann of Berlin claims to have discovered still remains a bone of contention in scientific minds the world over, there is at least one scientist who does not hesitate to brand it as a fraud.

E. T. Peterson, a director of the Union Savings Bank of Davenport, Iowa, who is at his winter residence here, received a letter from a friend in Bern, Switzerland, recognized as one of the foremost scientists of Europe. Peterson would not tell his friend's name, but gave out a portion of the letter. It read:

"The press notices of Dr. F. F. Friedmann's new cure for consumption are as usual the herald of fraud. The joke is old, and was killed long ago. No, the cure is not with us yet. However, it may prove a step in the right direction. Patience."

"This is certainly sad news to a great many of us," commented Peterson.

RACE TO SETTLE PONY QUESTION SATURDAY

SAN MATEO, Feb. 11.—The San Mateo Polo Club race meet held on El Cerrito field Sunday afternoon failed to settle all question as to the speed of polo ponies, and Harry Hastings still thinks his brown mare, Merry-Go-Round, is faster than Felton Elkins' Meat Ticket. He was sure enough yesterday afternoon to challenge Elkins to a race next Saturday morning and wager $1000 on the outcome. Elkins lost his time accepting, and the money is in Referee T. A. Driscoll's hands.

The race will be run on Charles W. Clark's private race course, with both owners in the saddle. The two poloists are not the only ones who have opinions on the merits of the two ponies, and the $1000 wager will not be the only money to change hands. Meat Ticket, with Elkins up, won the mile yesterday. This did not please Hastings, who finished second on his mare, Drucilla, after a magnificent ride. He figured all night on what Merry-Go-Round could do to Drucilla, and by comparison what Merry-Go-Round might do to Meat Ticket; so if theories count in pony races, Hastings will be $1000 richer.

(Special Correspondence to THE TRIBUNE.)

WINNEMUCCA, Feb. 8.—Arrived in Winnemucca at 6 o'clock, tired and sleepy. Immediately upon arrival I introduced myself to the third trick operator at the Southern Pacific depot, and after half an hour or so spent in telling him some of my adventures since leaving the hotel in Oakland, I proceeded to the El Dorado Hotel, at which place I was most courteously received by the proprietor and his wife and was invited by them to become their guest, while in Winnemucca. Going to bed in the morning has become quite a habit with me since the beginning of my "hike," as I find that I am able to make considerably better time walking at night than during the day, provided that the weather is clear and there is some moonlight.

AMUSING EXPERIENCES. Had some rather amusing experiences while in Inlay yesterday and the day before, and which added a novelty to my stay in that place.

Several of the railroad boys ascertained that I had been appointed a deputy constable of Washoe county, of this State, and the report was placed in circulation that I was doing some spotting for the Southern Pacific. To make matters worse, one of the men questioned me indirectly, and it seems not knowing what he was driving at, I further incriminated myself. Determined that I was a "spotter," all means were taken to start me on my way.

Fake telegrams were sent me, to which were attached the names of officials of towns several miles east of Inlay, and urging me to visit these places. When it was found that I did not "fall" for these telegrams, I then received a letter supposedly signed by about 40 or 50 employees of the company demanding that I vamoose, and setting forth that these same employees did not desire the presence of any more "bulls" in their camp.

Winnemucca is one of the most thriving cities in the State of Nevada, and is one of the greatest freight centers in this part of the country. Many wagonloads of freight go every week from here to points in Southern Oregon and Northern Nevada, points which are 200 and 300 miles from the railroad. This is also a great mining center and great deal of ore is shipped away from Winnemucca.

Leave Winnemucca for Golconda and Battle Mountain tomorrow. With best wishes to THE TRIBUNE and its readers, I am, very sincerely,

FRANCOIS, the Troubadour.

The following telegram was received by the Hotel Oakland from Francois this morning: Battle Mountain, Feb. 10, 1913. Hotel Oakland, Oakland, California: Arrived Battle Mountain last night. Remain here until tomorrow. Weather cold and clear. Everybody courteous and hospitable. Guest of W. C. Hancock of Capitol Hotel. Good story for TRIBUNE by mail. Regards to Hotel Oakland and TRIBUNE.

WOMEN PRACTICE SELF-DENIAL FOR CHARITY

CHICAGO, Feb. 11.—Yesterday marked the beginning of a week of self-denial among 125,000 working women of Chicago. During the week they will deny themselves all the little luxuries to which they have been accustomed and also will give up some things which they have considered necessities, in order that a fund may be raised for the advancement of the work of the Women's Trade Union League.

Some of the things that the women will forego are: Nickels, shows, theaters, dances, candy, ice cream and pie. Where it is practicable the women will also give up their week's savings and walk to and from work. Women who are already reaping the benefits of shorter hours and better pay are asked to aid those less fortunate.

The money that is raised will be used in organizing the women who are not yet members of any union.

HUSBAND STINGY, SHE SAYS IN DIVORCE SUIT

SAN JOSE, Feb. 11.—Because she was compelled to rely upon the generosity of friends to supply deficiencies in her wardrobe, in spite of the fact that her husband was amply able to provide for the wants of herself and her three children, Mrs. Ethel Ackley of Palo Alto was granted an interlocutory decree of divorce yesterday from her staid husband. She obtained the absolute custody of the youngest child and the couple will share the other two between them alternately. The question of alimony was not brought up in the hearing of the action.

LOCAL ARTIST TO SHOW PAINTINGS

Cadenasso Will Exhibit in the Tapestry Room of Hotel Oakland.

Paintings by Giuseppe Cadenasso will be exhibited in the tapestry room of the Hotel Oakland for two weeks, afternoon and evening, beginning February 12. The artist has been prominently identified with California art for several years past and his work is well known to lovers of landscape work. His paintings border on the impressionistic. His studies of scenes surrounding San Francisco, many of which embody the eucalyptus tree, and his studies around Monterey, have attracted a great deal of attention. The present exhibition is of particular interest to people on the east side of the bay, as the finest picture in the collection is of Lake Aliso, at Mills College, and is a remarkable piece of work. There is a small picture of some Alameda oaks and "In Alameda" is a gray eucalyptus study.

The pictures are as follows: Alameda Marsh, Sunset, Mystic Pool, Gray Morn, Aliso, The Close of Day, Hillside, Meadow, Evening Solitude, Last Ray, Endless Spring in Storm, Pool in Golden Gate Park, The Oaks, Marsh at Waiwae, The Mirror, In Alameda, In the Woods, Solitude in Park, Dante, The Hours.

DISEASE HASTENED PRESIDENT'S DEATH

Salvador Executive Suffered From Meningitis as Well as Wound.

SAN SALVADOR, Feb. 11.—The death of Dr. Manuel E. Arango, president of the republic of Salvador, Sunday, was due to meningitis, which set in the previous day, thus complicating the wounds suffered by the president at the hands of an assassin.

The president's body has been embalmed and will lie in state for three days. Don Carlos Melendez, who was elected by Congress to succeed to the office of chief executive, is one of the wealthiest citizens of San Salvador. The plot against President Arango appears to have been widespread and many persons have been arrested, charged with being implicated, but no official statement has been made public. The general condition of the country is tranquil, but bitter resentment is felt over the attack upon the president.

WARFIELD IS BEST IN BELASCO'S DRAMA

"The Return of Peter Grimm" Stands for Finest in Playwriting and Acting.

Star and Company Give Willingly of Talent to Make Worthy Work Live.

(By LEO LEVY.)

It happens to pass that Peter Grimm, lovable and loving Peter, with a heart as big and red as his best tulips, kindly old Peter, who has been nothing but good to his plants and his people, sprinkling one with water and the other with dew, cockade Peter, certain of his knowledge of women, as sure as youth and the aging—it seems that Peter Grimm would marry Catherine, his protegee, to Frederick, his nephew. He would perpetuate the house of Grimm, would Peter, and he is deaf to the cracking of hearts when he forces his plans on the unwilling. For Catherine doesn't love Frederick and does care for James Hartman, and although Frederick believes he worships Catherine, he is a scamp and worse.

PETER DIES SUDDENLY. But Peter is blind to all of this and he goes on breaking hearts until he dies. This is suddenly, in a chair, at the end of the first act, when he has extracted a promise from Catherine that she will be the wife of the nephew.

In the other world he meets Catherine's mother and she chides him on his promise. He has wronged her girl. "You've forgotten the greatest thing in the world—love," she tells Peter. "You've refused Catherine her greatest right—that of choosing her husband."

And so Peter Grimm returns to his beloved tulip beds and his sitting-room to try and right the wrong. He comes back in time to discover that his nephew is a whiskered scamp and unworthy of the name of Grimm. For two acts, Peter, in spirit alone, struggles to dissuade Kettle from living out her promise; struggles to reach the conscience of Frederick; shrieks, unheard, at all of them. And, finally, when the kindly old man fears he must go back where he came, his mission a failure, William hears him. William is a dying boy, the charity of Peter in the old days and the hidden son of Frederick. And it comes to pass that through this boy Peter comes to meet his nephew's mortal enemy. Katie renounces her promise, Frederick is unwell and Peter carries off the spirit of William.

TWO THINGS ARE GREAT. Two things are great in "The Return of Peter Grimm," in which David Warfield is making his genius heard at the Macedonia and only two things. One of them is David Belasco's shading of the material into the spiritual. The other, David Warfield's portrayal of a disembodied soul.

Warfield's work is the greater of the two, he has only the tools of speech and appearance with which to work, and with them must create out of air. Belasco wrought with pen and a superior knowledge of stagecraft and the labor with electricity and steel and wood, words and phrases—a host of things material. Warfield's spirit of Peter Grimm defies analysis. What arts he employs to live on the stage as a fleshless Grimm perhaps puzzles himself. The entrances are made ghostly through the employment of Belasco's knowledge of lighting; after that Warfield must use only himself. That he is a soul minus body through two long acts is the real triumph of his career.

COMPANY IS EXCELLENT. With Warfield is an excellent company, one that fits perfectly into the wonderful stage frame Belasco has built around them. Janet Dunbar is Catherine, and that she is worthy of Warfield's artistic company is the best praise that can be bestowed upon her. The rest of the team give to the play the best there is.

Rippling with human comedy and sparkling with kindness is "The Return of Peter Grimm." That scene in which Catherine imagines she hears dead Peter Grimm calling and walks into the spirit's arms is the first bit of sublime sentiment that has been written in five years.

Heaping adjectives on the obviously good is a useless task and does no more than decorate with things nothing. "The Return of Peter Grimm" stands for the best in playwriting, in staging—and better than both—in acting. It is its own best advertisement and needs no brush.

MISSING MAN IS FOUND IN DAZE

Thomas B. McCarthy Fails to Remember What He Did for Five Days.

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 11.—Thomas B. McCarthy, a houseman attached to engine company No. 10, with $112 in his pocket disappeared on February 5. Last night he was found dazed on the ocean beach by Edward McKittick, a fireman attached to chemical company No. 11 and restored to his family. The five days that he was missing and during which his wife became frantic and ill from grief and apprehension are blank to McCarthy's mind, and he told other members of his fire company that he had no idea where he had been during the interval.

With his pay in an envelope ready to take home to his wife and with February 8 as his day off, McCarthy left the quarters of engine 10 in a joyous mood. He never arrived at his home, 88 Godes street, and members of the fire department had been searching for him for four days without notifying the police. Last night an appeal was made for the aid of the detective department just before McKittick chanced upon McCarthy, who was watching the breakers coming in from the ocean.

On being taken to his own fire house McCarthy recovered himself, but he said he could not remember anything that had happened since he walked forth from the building five days before.

LAWYER DIES ON TRIP TO EGYPT

Chas. W. Tuttle Passes Away; His Wife Was With Him.

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 11.—Word has been received in this city by cable of the death in Assouan, Egypt, on February 8 of Charles W. Tuttle of Colusa, a member of the Pacific Union Club of this city and well known here. Pneumonia was the cause of death, and the end came toward the conclusion of a five months' tour of the Old World. Tuttle was taking in the company of his wife and his daughter, Miss Charlotte, and Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Tubbs. Immediately upon receipt of the news yesterday the flag upon the Pacific Union Club was hauled to half-mast in honor of the memory of the man who had done so much toward making the club a success.

Tuttle was 50 years old, and came to San Francisco from New England in the early nineties, becoming identified with the case-lawyer law firm of Whitcomb, Pringle & Felton. A nephew and heir to the estate of the late Major A. C. Whitcomb, Tuttle was wealthy, and became popular in the younger San Francisco society set. Of late years he made his home in Colusa, where he was one of the directors in the Colusa County Bank and part owner of the big Amador ranch. Besides his widow and daughter, three sons, Curtis, Darwin and Charles Jr., survive him.

A Disease That Develops Unsuspected

Many People Are Afflicted With Kidney Disease Before They Have Any Idea Anything Is Wrong.

No wonder doctors consider kidney disease one to be most dreaded. Most often attacks without any particular warning. This puts a watchful care of the kidneys right up to every individual.

Dr. Loomis, the great specialist on kidney diseases, says: "There is not one person in twenty who at 40 years of age who has healthy kidneys." This information gives one a shock. Who can claim off-hand to be one of the lucky four in every hundred?

This condition imposes upon every one the necessity for occasional self-examination—say every two or three months. Thousands of course, must have kidney trouble right now without knowing it. You should make a test and if you find your kidneys are diseased there is not a moment to waste. New Gossard Corsets Spring Models

The natural figure is more in vogue this season than at any other period of fashion.

Women are recognizing the benefits of the larger waist and low bust effects—a style that has come to stay for a long time to come; naturally the figure must go through a process of evolution, and during this stage it is more or less difficult to corset. As the waist increases, the flesh that has been forced below on to the thighs through wearing the old curved corsets, becomes more evenly distributed so that THE ENTIRE FIGURE ASSUMES A STRAIGHTER LINE—not only an improvement in appearance, but the comfort is incomparable.

The New Spring Gossards

Are ideal in bringing about this desired effect, lend an appearance of straighter hips, flat back and have the new low bust effect.

Many things can be shown you in our fitting rooms that cannot be explained on paper. A titling of the genuine Gossard—the original front lacing corset—will be a revelation to you in comfort, grace of carriage and added beauty which the corset can impart.

Superiority of the Evening Newspaper.

The superior value of the evening newspaper was aptly illustrated yesterday. Fourteen hours ahead of the San Francisco morning papers, THE TRIBUNE published the news of the riots in Tokyo and the overturn of the Japanese ministry, also the melancholy tidings that Captain Scott and his party had perished in their dash for the South Pole.

The afternoon journal is the newspaper of today; the morning paper is the newspaper of yesterday. The most important news printed in the morning papers today appeared in THE TRIBUNE yesterday.

Most events of importance happen in daylight hours, and news-gathering has been reduced to such a system that the news of any event of importance in any part of the world is telegraphed to THE TRIBUNE almost immediately. That is why this paper is usually ahead of the morning papers in giving accounts of sensational occurrences.

The evening paper prints the news first, and the morning papers glean the field and give the details afterward.

President-Elect Wilson's Financial Views.

No President-elect has ever talked as much between his election and inauguration as Prof. Wilson. And certainly none has ever been as cryptic in his utterances. In all that he says is the implication that somebody is being wronged, abused, in some way cheated, and that he will correct this condition.

Now there are wrongs in all forms of social organization, and under all kinds of government. There are also fancied wrongs. Nothing is easier than to make a people, or part of a people, feel wronged. One man can be made to feel that another's bones are carrying his meat. The lean and fat conditions of life are in antagonism. But just how to flesh the bones of all alike has not been discovered.

Prof. Wilson, in one of his late utterances, considered the loan fund of the country and access to it, the methods of securing some of it, and the uses of credit. As his conclusion he declared that the remedy for wrongs inflicted upon all by the use of the loan fund lies in "equalizing credit."

The surplus capital of the country is reserovired in the banks, and constitutes the loan fund. It is composed of the savings bank deposits of the saving and thrifty, and of the commercial deposits of our active business men. The savings and commercial banks are the trustees of the owners of the deposits, which they loan at interest to those who wish to borrow. The borrowing is done on the credit of the borrower. He must secure the bank, the trustee, for the payment of the interest and principal of the loan. Therefore when Prof. Wilson talks of "equalizing credit," it means equalizing the borrowers. But how is this to be done? One borrower presents himself to a bank, asking a loan. He has neither collateral nor personal security to offer. Another comes asking an equal loan, and offers United States bonds as collateral. How does Prof. Wilson propose to equalize the two? One has the best of collateral. The other has no security, and yet his need may be greater. Is not Prof. Wilson teaching him that his right to the money held by the bank as trustee is equal to the right of the other who offers government bonds as collateral?

If he is not teaching that, what is he teaching? How can he equalize credit except by opening the bank vaults to those who want money but have no security to offer?

We feel no impulse of partisanship in this discussion. We merely want to know if Prof. Wilson, consciously or not, is appealing to the discontent of the country and is increasing it. With that we find no fault provided that he assumes the responsibility of producing a sure remedy for the discontent that he creates. Let us know how credit is to be equalized.

The country is not unfamiliar with the process, as implied by Prof. Wilson. The old Pacific Bank founded by Dr. McDonald equalized credit in that way, and so did Dalzell Brown in the California Trust Company. The results were not satisfactory to the depositors, for whom those banks were trustees. If there be a way to equalize credit, without such results as followed in those cases, and if Prof. Wilson is in possession of the plan, then he has made the most important financial discovery since Copernicus revealed what has come to be known as the "Gresham law."

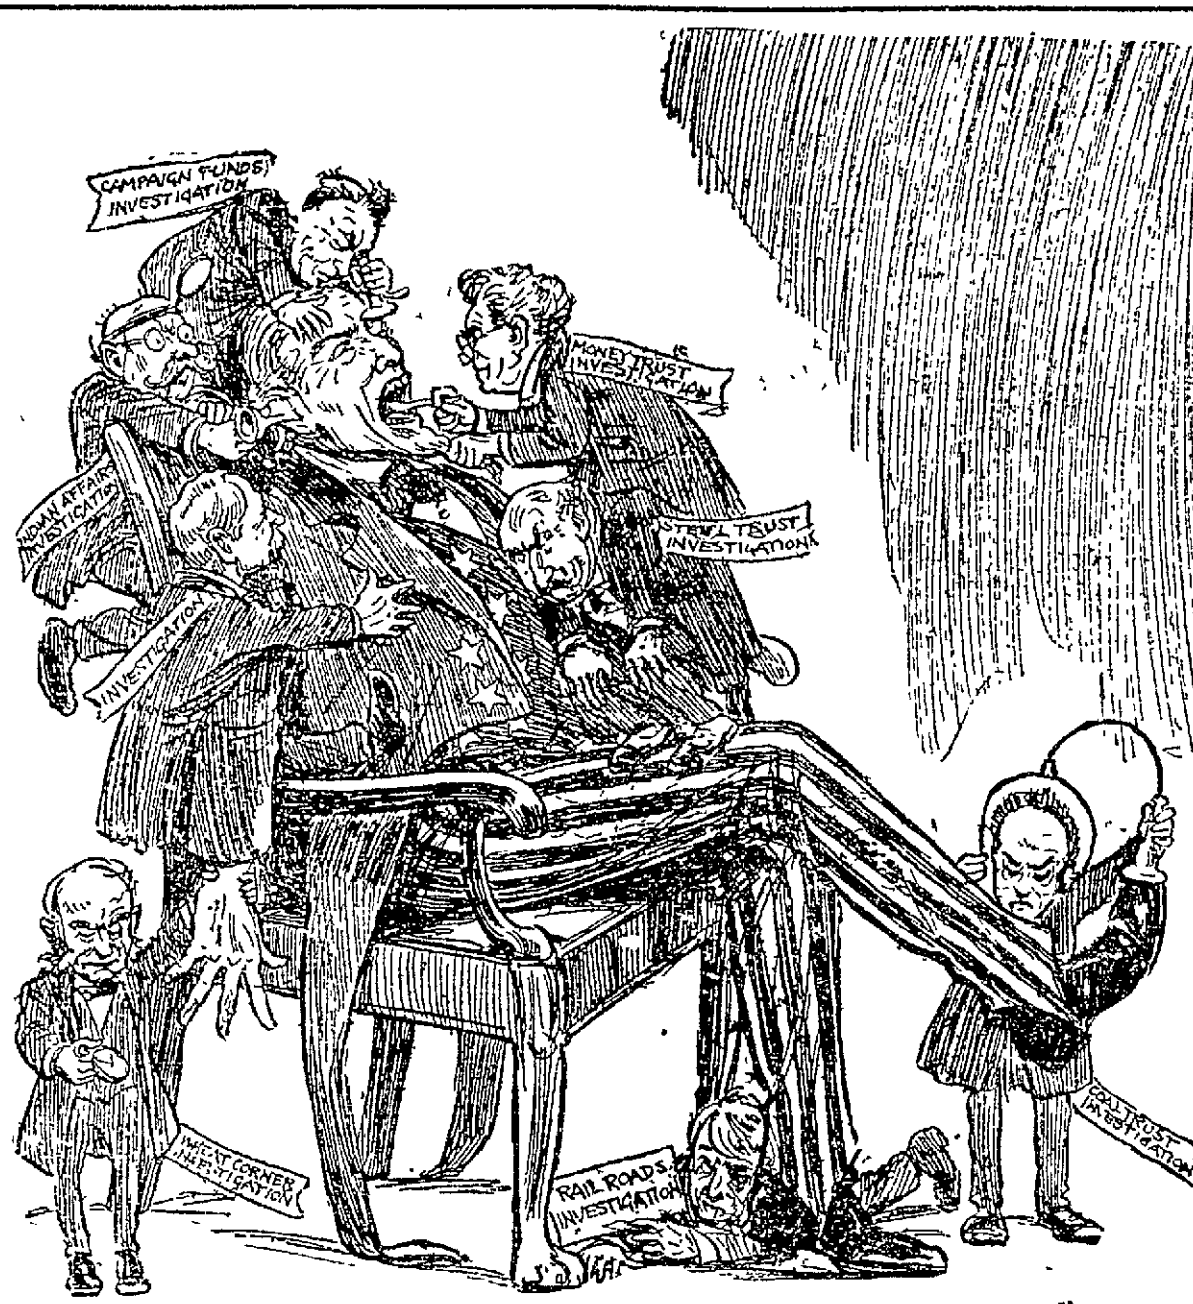

Attacking Dardanelles Forts in the Rear.

The military operations of the allied Balkan states against the Turkish capital—Constantinople—reveal the fact that those who are directing them are profiting by the lessons taught all civilized nations by the Japanese in the two wars waged in turn against China and Russia, respectively. In the war with China, the Japanese wasted no time or lives by a frontal attack of the forts of Wei-Hai-Wei or of Port Arthur, both supposed to be impregnable to any attack made by water—but directed their operations against the vulnerable point of the fortifications—namely, the landward side.

At Wei-Hai-Wei, the Japanese feinted, to distract the attention of the commandant of the land forts from the real movement planned to carry the stronghold, by boldly sending a torpedo boat flotilla into the harbor to destroy the Chinese fleet at anchor there. Japanese troops then landed several miles away from Wei-Hai-Wei, marched into the fortress from the unprotected rear practically unopposed and the harbor was at their mercy. The operation was repeated at Port Arthur on the north side of the entrance to the Gulf of Pechili. In the Russian campaign the capture of Port Arthur by land attack was again successful, although Russia had spent millions of dollars to make it as impregnable from attack in that quarter as it was from the sea.

The troops of the allied Balkan states have adopted the Japanese plan of carrying works designed to command water ways from invasion by hostile fleets, and they are attacking the forts commanding the Dardanelles, the key to Constantinople, from the rear, along the narrow peninsula of Gallipoli. Whatever means the Turks may have taken to resist attack from the land side of the peninsula are apparently proving futile and ineffective. They apparently neglected the war lessons given by the Japanese. Without weakening the forces holding the main body of the Turkish army in check on the Thracian lines, the Bulgarians and Servians, aided by Greek warships, are carrying everything before them along the narrow peninsula of Gallipoli on which the forts protecting the Dardanelles are located. If the latter are carried, as it looks probable they will be before long, the Greek fleet will be able to enter the Sea of Marmora and co-operate with the allied army at Thracian to force the Ottoman capital to surrender.

NOT SO SICK AS HE WILL BE IF THIS KEEPS UP!

Mexican Revolution Threatens to Embroil United States.

Mexico's internal troubles have developed, within the past forty-eight hours, into a more aggravated form than ever. The country is, indeed, in a worse plight than it was when Diaz was forced to abdicate the dictatorship of thirty years and seek personal safety in flight from the country and an asylum in Spain. The ex-dictator's nephew and namesake, Felix Diaz, until Sunday morning held as a life prisoner for his revolutionary flasco at Vera Cruz against Madero, is self-constituted dictator of the republic backed by the main body of the Mexican army and in control of the city of Mexico. Madero, on the other hand, is now practically shut up in the national palace. General Bernardo Reyes, who was also a state prisoner for high treason, Sunday morning co-operated with Diaz in carrying out the coup d'etat, led the troops against the national palace and was slain by the first volley fired by the garrison which remained loyal to Madero.

The situation in Mexico is graver to the United States than it has been since the abdication of Porfirio Diaz. The lives and property of American citizens in "our sister republic" are so seriously in jeopardy that intervention by the United States for the protection of its own citizens seems to be unavoidable. Mexico is today actually without a responsible government now that Madero and his ministers have been overthrown and driven out of the capital. But the new dictator, Felix Diaz, cannot be recognized as the center of national authority. He has suddenly developed as the latest addition to a number of revolutionary leaders who have been acting independently against the Maderist government in various parts of the country. Diaz has no assurance, so far as known, that he will receive the support and can rely upon the co-operation of the other revolutionists. He cannot be expected, therefore, to be able to guarantee protection to foreign residents in Mexico. The Monroe Doctrine bars any European power from intervening. The responsibility for the restoration of order in the disquieted country and the protection of foreign interests falls upon the United States, and it rests with the Congress now in session whether or not the administration shall send its armed troops across the border to enforce domestic peace in Mexico, at the risk of provoking an international war.

The new revolution has occurred in Mexico at a most inopportune time to the United States, right on the eve of a change of administration at Washington. Taft has made strenuous efforts to avoid any breach of neutrality between the two nations and to preserve peace and maintain friendly relations. It is unfortunate that a situation should arise so suddenly at the close of his term of office which threatens to plunge us into international trouble, and leave the coming administration to get out of the trouble best it can. But Congress is practically in accord with the coming administration and whatever action it takes, it will be held accountable for it. The troops are massed on the border and the warships of the United States are ready at a moment's notice to sail for the Mexican ports.

The situation in Mexico is either in process of being straightened out or getting into a worse tangle. It is getting the Monroe Doctrine so badly kinked that it may prove embarrassing to our Democratic President to maintain it. The Monroe Doctrine does not promote internal peace in the Latin-American republics and is an obstacle to the good understanding we seek to establish with them. Secure in the protection of the United States, they are defiant in their relations to European powers, yet they are exceedingly jealous of anything like interference in their affairs.

The annual report of Captain E. P. Berthoff, commandant of the United States Revenue Marine Service, makes a remarkable showing of the value of the revenue cutters, which are popularly supposed to be employed solely in the protection of our coasts from the operations of smugglers. Captain Berthoff calls special attention to the fact that during the fiscal year 1911-12 revenue cutters have been directly instrumental in saving 2212 lives and 260 vessels in distress with cargoes valued in the aggregate at $10,711,745. A service which makes such a splendid showing as that outside of its ordinary line of duties is entitled to the highest commendation for its efficiency.

DEBTS OF BALKAN STATES

Financiers are figuring out how bondholders will stand after the map of the Balkans is rearranged. All the little states have been running into debt, getting ready for war. Three fourths of their bonds are held in France.

Turkey had last year a debt of $570,000,000, not badly depreciated. With only Constantinople left in Europe, she will still have nearly 20,000,000 people, but it is not easy to tax the Arabians. Her debt is $2850 a head. For comparison, that of France is $156 a head, all held at home, that of the United States (interest-bearing), $11; that of New Zealand, $50, mainly for productive purposes.

In borrowing money, Turkey has submitted to conditions which really independent nations would refuse. Portions of her revenue are earmarked for certain debts, and the powers claim the right to restrict even her tariff rates. This would make financial readjustment complicated.

Bulgaria has old loans of $34 a head, has recently borrowed $5,000,000 more, and presumably owes Czar Ferdinand his great personal fortune, which he has risked on the war. Serbia's debt is $50 a head, Greece's $65 and rather badly depreciated.

With more territory, her credit will be better. Her government is now efficient.

Mortenegro has not had to wheedle money lenders to buy powder, and cannot Big Brother Russia has long allowed her $200,000 a year for guns and schools, chiefly guns, and King Nicholas can get any money he needs from rich relatives in St. Petersburg without bothering the houses. Montenegrin bonds are practically not listed on the exchange, but sold by private agreement.

Considering their fertility and resources, none of the Balkan states is alarmingly handicapped by debt, as Portugal seemed to be with her $160 a head of bonds when the republic was declared.

W. R. Fox, 195 W. Washington St., Noblesville, Ind., says: "After suffering many months with kidney trouble, after trying other remedies and prescriptions, I purchased a box of Foley Kidney Pills which not only did me more good than any other remedy I ever used, but have positively set my kidneys right. Other members of my family have used them with similar results. Take at the first sign of kidney trouble. Wishart's Drug Store."

KINGS COUNTY IS FARMING CENTER

Figures Show Big Output of a Fertile Region in San Joaquin Valley.

Kings county in 1910, among the 58 counties of California, ranked:
Third in peach and nectarine production, 805,632 bushels;
Fourth in alfalfa product, 123,112 tons;
Fifth in milk production, 8,078,271 gallons;
Sixth in grape production, 91,434,166 pounds;
Seventh in value of domestic animals;
Eighth in number of cattle, 74,795;
Ninth in orchard fruit production, 1,315,117;
Seventeenth in value of farm property, $38,312,202.

SACRAMENTO, Feb. 11.—Kings county, advantageously situated in the rich San Joaquin valley, stands out as one of the leading counties of the state in agricultural and horticultural pursuits, according to figures that have been compiled by Secretary of State Frank C. Jordan for publication in the State Blue Book. Basing his comparative figures on United States census reports and state reports for 1910, Jordan finds that Kings county, among the 58 of California, ranks third in peach and nectarine production, fourth in alfalfa product, fifth in milk production, sixth in grape production, seventh in the value of domestic animals, eighth in number of cattle, ninth in total orchard product and seventeenth in the value of farm property.

With a total land area of 741,760 acres, relates Jordan, the county has 373,823 acres in farms, and the value of farm property in 1910 was $38,312,202. This represents an increase in 10 years of $7,380,385, or 23.3 per cent. The value of domestic animals on farms was $4,425,411, and those not on farms $152,689. The total number of cattle, horses, mules, hogs, sheep and goats was 191,031, and the receipts for the year from the sale of animals $2,927,702. The value of poultry and eggs produced was $248,495, and the value of dairy products $384,251. The milk product amounted to 8,078,271 gallons; butter fat sold, 1,323,936 pounds; cream sold, 43,817 gallons; eggs produced, 234,147 bushels; honey product for the year amounted to 238,791 pounds.

MUCH ORCHARD LAND.
There were 1,048,506 bearing orchard fruit trees and the product amounted to 1,315,117 bushels. The bearing nut trees numbered 1747; bearing peach and nectarine trees, 777,637; bearing plum and prune trees, 123,192; bearing apricot trees, 124,007. The peach and nectarine product amounted to 805,632 bushels; plum and prune product, 258,851 bushels; apricot product, 234,147 bushels; total grape product, 91,434,166 pounds.

All crops are given a value of $3,167,114. The cereal crop was valued at $550,869; hay and forage crop, $1,171,101; fruit and nut crop, $21,219,568. There were 34,282 acres planted to cereals and the product amounted to 687,738 bushels; 57,749 acres in hay and forage, and the product amounted to 158,305 tons; 36,778 acres in alfalfa, and the product amounted to 123,112 tons.

While these figures are insignificant in themselves, the Blue Book article goes farther and tells how, in the days of pioneering past in this county, the highest state of civilization is prevalent throughout. Climate and other conditions make a failure of crops almost impossible. There is a good supply of pure water, much flowing from artesian wells, and the irrigation system is perfect. The county is nearly level; no rock to contend with, no land to clean, no hills and hollows to make tilling of the soil difficult. Railroads run in straight lines throughout its length and breadth. Electric power is readily available for pumping plants or any other purpose.

Attention is called to the fact that in addition to horticultural and viticultural successes, sugar beets are fast becoming a factor in Kings county prosperity. The discovery a few years ago that a great deal of what seemed to be almost waste land is particularly well adapted to the raising of this product has changed the whole face of the county in some parts. About Corcoran, where the erection of a large sugar factory has opened up a market, the growing of beets is being prosecuted very extensively. In other portions of the county experiments are being made along this line with encouraging results.

STOCKMEN PROFIT.
Stock raising, sheep raising and hog raising are profitable here, as is bee culture, all of which are assuming increasingly increasing importance. Poultry raising, too, is said to be profitable, for the reason that five acres of land are said to be sufficient to carry on the business on an extensive scale.

Appropriate mention is made of the several cities and towns: Hanford, the county seat, a busy little city, traversed by two main lines of railroad, boasting well-paved streets, commendable public buildings, schools, public institutions and a number of prosperous industries; Corcoran, surrounded by a rich agricultural district; Lemoore, well situated, nine miles from Hanford; Armona, the point of junction of the Southern Pacific and a branch road to Lemoore; Coalinga, and other points, and where the fruit industry is immense. Other towns and stations mentioned are Stratton, Guernsey, Odessa, Banner, Harlow, and Remmoy, all giving promise of rapid development.

Throughout the Blue Book article is most interesting and contains data concerning Kings county which cannot be found within any other state publication. This article, together with other similar articles concerning each county, go to form a complete work which Secretary Jordan believes will stand out as one of the most valuable and helpful reviews of the state resources that has ever been included within an official publication.

Society Women Wash Their Own Hair

"Home shampooing among society women is rapidly gaining in popularity," says Mae Martin, writing for the Boston American. "This is not a fad or fancy but rather a housewifely result attained in this manner, through the use of camphor."

You would have luxuriant growth of glossy hair, try this easy way of shampooing. Dissolve a teaspoonful of camphor in a cupful of hot water, then pour on the scalp and rub in thoroughly for a few minutes, after which the hair and scalp should be rinsed thoroughly with the water. It is not only a delightful with its fluffy glossy condition.

"While camphor is not expensive, you should be careful to get it in an original package."

He then went to the saloon of George Clutter, 351 Kearny street, where he met with a similar experience. The jimmy marks on the two doors are identical.

30,000 MAY STRIKE ON EASTERN RAILROADS

Brotherhood and Officials Fail to Arrive at Result in Conference.

Walkout May Tie Up Lines Within Forty-eight Hours.

NEW YORK, Feb. 11.—With a strike vote authorized by an overwhelming majority, the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Engineers submitted an ultimatum today to the representatives of the fifty-four eastern railroads and, neither side yielding, the conference adjourned. Officers of the brotherhood are now authorized to call a strike at once, but its president, W. S. Carter, will, as a last resort, submit to the railroads late today a written statement of the unions' attitude. If a compromise on the question of wages and working conditions is not reached more than 30,000 men may leave their engines within forty-eight hours. "We presume you intend to withdraw your men from the service," said Chairman Elisha Lee for the railroads, as the conference broke up. "In that event you will be taking a grave responsibility."

TWO INJURED BY SPEEDING AUTO

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 11.—Left for drag by a merciless automobilist, whose machine crashed into and demolished the buggy in which she and her husband, Thomas J. Stanton, were riding, Mrs. Elizabeth Stanton, 5841 Geary street, lies at the Central Emergency Hospital in a serious condition, while the police are scouring the city in an effort to apprehend those responsible for her injuries. Mrs. Stanton suffered a badly shattered hand and arm, minor cuts and bruises over her body. Her husband, who is a real estate dealer with offices at 319 Golden Gate avenue, was cut about the face and head and received a slight injury to his left leg. According to witnesses of the accident the behavior of the driver of the automobile was particularly brutal. The accident occurred at Geary and Lyon streets. Both noticed the automobile which was coming in the opposite direction, but believed it would turn out on the left side of the street in a good condition. The automobile driver failed to do so, however, and the collision resulted.

POLICE HOLD TWO PENDING INQUEST

Pending the inquest to be held tomorrow morning over the body of William L. Skelton, found hanging from the rafters of his home in Oakland, Captain of Inspectors Lou E. Agnew is holding Mrs. Mamie Flynn and John Gill. Mrs. Flynn is a witness although an affidavit that would connect them with the commission of crime has been found. The disappearance of $500 of the dead man's money at first puzzled the police, but Inspectors St. Clair Hodgson and Thomas Wood have located the large portion of this amount in an account opened by Skelton with the Twenty-third Avenue bank. About $100 is still unaccounted for. Bell and the Flynn woman reported the alleged suicide of Skelton. Circumstances surrounding the finding of the body led to the placing of Bell and Mrs. Flynn in custody.

COUNCIL TO WORK ON NEW WATER RATES

Date Set for Hearing of Testimony Preparatory to Action.

Request for Increase on Part of Corporation Expected by Commission.

Hearing of testimony preparatory to the fixing of water rates for the fiscal year 1913-1914 will be the order of the regular meeting of the city council to be held February 15. At a conference of the commissioners and City Expert J. H. Dockweiler, this morning, a list of questions to be presented to the Peoples Water Company for statistical replies were agreed upon.

Engineer George H. Wilhelm appeared before the council this morning for the Peoples Water Company. Mayor Mott announced the date of the taking of testimony and asked that representatives of the water company be on hand at that time.

It is anticipated that a request will be presented by the water company for an increase in the water rates and this will be taken under consideration by the council. The company has recently issued a bulletin showing that its holdings are valued at over $30,000,000. A return is expected on this investment.

WILL RENEW DEMAND. The company will also renew its demand that the item of structural depreciation be considered by the council in fixing the rates. This has never been admitted as a fair charge by the council. An agreement entered into in 1908 between the city and the corporation fixed a schedule of gradual reduction in the rates and at that time the matter of structural depreciation had not been passed upon by the United States Supreme court.

It is probable that although the council will take extensive testimony prior to fixing the water rates, and will gather a mass of data and statistics, the old Pendleton-Titus agreement will be authorized and the rate remain as at present. Members of the council favor a reduction in the rates, but it is inevitable that any reduction would mean litigation, the council will probably take shelter under the famous agreement.

The agreement provides that after June 30, 1911, the water company shall not demand or ask for any increase in the rates at that time in force. This agreement is still on file in the office of the city clerk and cannot be broken by either party without cause.

ESTIMATE OF VALUE. An estimate of the value of the holdings of the Peoples Water Company, as set forth in a bulletin to the holders of stocks and bonds issued by Frank C. Havens, president of the company, is placed at $30,000,000. In his bulletin, Havens points out that the company owns some 45,000 acres of land immediately adjoining the populated districts of Oakland and Berkeley which are fast growing in demand as home sites, that the Oakland and Antioch Railways, and the Skyline Boulevard, which is now in process of construction are making these lands available for such use and fixing an actual market value on them.

He notes that lands farther from the populated district and, in some instances, less attractive are selling for from $100 to $300 per acre and, in his estimate, he suggests as a conservative valuation, $270 per acre for these holdings.

RECONSTRUCTION VALUE. Havens cites that the reconstruction value of the city of Oakland, including pumping plants, meters, supplies on hand and other property exceeds $7,750,000. Recent investigations by competent engineers, he says, have shown that the city is capable of developing to take care of a population of 1,000,000, thus proving that the value of the water supply sources is equal in money value to all of the other holdings of the company.

An important feature of the bulletin is the "data regarding the saving resultant from the installation of meters. The effect is shown by the following figures: Average daily consumption for 1910, 13,450,000 gallons; for 1911, 16,315,000 gallons; for 1912, 15,200,000 gallons. This is applied to a population of 350,000 through 474 outlets. The income for 1912 from all sources was $1,689,528.26. The operating expenses, including interest, taxes, etc., amounted to $1,518,178.76, leaving a surplus of $171,350.50.

PENNSYLVANIA SOCIETY HAS A NIGHT OF FUN

The entertainment and banquet given by the Pennsylvania Society at K. P. hall, Twelfth and Alameda streets, last evening, was a successful one. Delegations from San Francisco and Richmond filled the large hall and added much to the enjoyment. The singing and speaking was of professional caliber. Conservative estimate places the attendance at 500.

The society has a membership on this coast of 1200 and is being added to every month. Its membership includes many prominent business men and women of Oakland. The society meets twice a month and a committee of seven is in charge. The program follows:

Vocal solo, Rudolph Post, accompanied by Miss McCann; reading, Owen McCann; piano solo, Miss Margaret Post; vocal solo, Miss Bernice Alary, accompanied by Miss McCann; reading, Mrs. Jessie Nichols; vocal duet, Misses Mauer, accompanied by Miss Mauer.

INDUSTRIAL AGENT MAY ACCEPT NEW POSITION

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 11.—F. W. Hoover, industrial agent for the Southern Pacific Company for many years and a railroad man of generous acquaintances throughout the country, has been asked to leave the Southern Pacific. The Clark electric interests of Columbus, O., want Hoover's services, and after declining two offers that were made, Hoover, accompanied by Mrs. Hoover, has left for Columbus to accept the position of industrial agent. Should he resign from the Southern Pacific, E. H. Miller, who has been associated with him for several years in the industrial department, will probably be chosen to succeed him.

WITHHELD BENCH WARRANTS; WON'T SAY WHY

WASHINGTON, Feb. 11.—Attorney General Wickham declined today to send to the House, in accordance with Representative Garner's resolution, his reason for withholding bench warrants issued on Texas indictments against John Archibald and other leaders of the Southern Railway against the Sherman anti-trust law. The attorney-general replied, "with the approval of President Taft, that it was incompatible with the public interest to disclose the situation."

COMPANIES AGREE ON USE OF LINES

Corporations Using Streets for Electric Wires Will Use One Line.

Agreement has been reached among representatives of various public service corporations using the streets of Oakland for electric wires, according to a report of a conference in the office of the city attorney filed by Ben F. Woolner with the city council this morning. Woolner explained that the corporations are ready to get together to use a joint line of poles in each street and thoroughfare. Another conference is to be held shortly to work out the details of the co-operative pole plan.

City Attorney Woolner's report was as follows:

A conference was held at my office today concerning the proposed pole ordinance, there being present, representing the following corporations, the following gentlemen:

Pacific Gas & Electric Company, represented by Mr. Chas. E. Snook and Mr. A. Leach.

Pacific States Telephone Company, represented by Mr. Brownlee, Mr. Long and Mr. Carpenter.

Postal Telegraph Company, represented by Mr. Heurn.

United Light and Power Company, represented by Mr. Sherbourne, Mr. Spaulding and Mr. Cone.

Western Union Telegraph Company, represented by Mr. Ord.

Southern Pacific Company, represented by Mr. Babcock, Mr. Perrin, Mr. Drake and Mr. Brown.

Oakland and Antioch Railway Company, represented by Mr. Charles E. Snook.

Mr. Perry E. Brown, city superintendent of streets, and Mr. Geo. Babcock, city electrician, were also present.

The conference resulted in the corporations in question agreeing to get into a meeting to discuss the question of a proposed agreement to be entered into between the various corporations regarding the pole question, similar in character to the presently in effect in the city of Los Angeles. Such proposed agreement to be submitted to my office and to the council for ratification, and which, if satisfactory, shall be supplemented by an ordinance requiring the enforcement of its terms.

MRS. MATHERS CALLED BY DEATH

Well Known Church and Philanthropic Women Resided Here Since 1869.

Mrs. Mary Mather, wife of Solon H. Mather, a retired real estate dealer of Washington, died yesterday after a long illness at her home, 482 Forty-fourth street, where she had resided for many years.

Since 1869 Mrs. Mather has made her home here, where she became interested in church and philanthropic work. She was a life member of the Oak Leaf Chapter, Order of Eastern Star, where she was held in high esteem. The deceased was also a pioneer member of the First Presbyterian church of this city and will be buried according to the wishes of that church. Rev. F. L. Good, pastor of that parish, will read the service.

The funeral will be held tomorrow morning from the James Taylor undertaking parlors, 288 Fifteenth street and the interment will be held in Mountain View cemetery.

The late Mrs. Mather was 79 years of age and was born in Buffalo, N. Y. She is survived by two sons, Charles and George Mather of this city.

2000 LINEMEN TO VOTE ON WALKOUT

The Question Over Increase in Wages Matter That Requires Solution.

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 11.—The votes of 2000 linemen employed in California, Washington, Nevada and a portion of Arizona by the Pacific Telephone and Telegraph Company will be canvassed here tonight. On the result, which may not become known until tomorrow, will depend the authority of the district council of the international union of electrical workers to call a strike or to enter into further negotiations with the company. The men ask $4.50 a day and the company has offered $3.75, an advance from $3.50. Even were the council empowered to declare a strike, Secretary Jenkins thought compromise the more likely outcome.

ADOPTS RESOLUTIONS IN WESTENBERG CASE

The following resolution was adopted unanimously by the congregation of the Fruitvale Presbyterian church at the meeting held Sunday:

"The congregation of the Fruitvale Presbyterian church, in view of the conduct of the Southern Railway Company against officials of the city of Oakland, desires to give expression to its sentiments as to the great, vital, essential matter underlying the situation—the policy of tolerating vice. Prostitution is contrary to the moral law and contrary to the civil law, and its toleration in a segregated district or in any other way is repugnant to the Christian moral sense."

"We desire to express in the strongest manner our condemnation of the connection between the burden of guilt resting on the man and on the woman, and that the property holder who draws rent from the business and the officials sworn to enforce the law, who choose to tolerate vice, and who are bound up together in a bundle of guilt with all the rest in the unsavory business."

"Whatever there may be in the detailed charges brought by Mr. Westenberg, the chief of police has publicly acknowledged his failure to enforce the law of a segregated vice district, and we appeal to him to abandon that policy and to adopt a simpler plan, that of enforcing the law already on the statute books which makes a house of prostitution an outlaw. When he has done this, we will be glad to help him in any way that we can."

"We think the law stands for a suit for it."

COLLECTOR OF PORT WANTS ADVICE

Would Have Attorney Decide Who Has Charge of Customs Matters.

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 11.—Collector of the Port Frederick S. Stratton, in a lengthy letter addressed to United States District Attorney John L. McNab, asks that an immediate determination be made in the courts of the question of jurisdiction between the general and the collector of the port. His action is the result of the controversy over the receipt of merchandise and baggage from the excursion steamer Cleveland and the alleged admission of designated persons within the customs enclosure. Stratton's letter says the collector is threatened with injury, as he has been informed by the officials of the Hamburg-American line that they will not permit the steamer Cleveland to call here next year unless there is a satisfactory arrangement. Collector Stratton does not question the legal right of the harbor commissioners to issue passes on the dock when a foreign port vessel arrives, but he does doubt the right of the commissioners to invade or allow others to enter the customs enclosure on the dock which has been erected solely for the purpose of examining the passengers' baggage.

Stratton also wants McNab to decide whether the collector of customs has control over all vessels as provided by the revised statutes; whether the collector is authorized to use force at his command to have the laws observed; if resistance is offered whether persons can be indicted for conspiracy and whether the harbor commissioners can be brought before the federal grand jury for the complaints charged.

Stratton says that congress has the sole power of legislation regulating commerce and the state no authority, and goes on to say that he would have been glad to have taken up the question with President Dwyer, but that he is unable to discuss the question with Deputy Surveyor Charles A. Stephens, precludes further consideration except through the courts.

He charges President Dwyer with interfering with the federal law and authority of the collector of customs. District Attorney McNab said yesterday it would take him several days looking up authorities before he would reply to Collector Stratton.

TECHNICAL BAR TO WEBB BILL

Measure to Regulate Shipping of Liquor Is Re-Passed.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 11.—By a viva voce vote the House re-passed today the bill to prohibit the shipment of intoxicating liquors into "dry" states, as it passed the Senate yesterday and thereby removed a parliamentary obstruction, which threatened to delay its final passage until another session of Congress. The bill, known as the Webb bill, to prevent shipments of intoxicating liquors into "dry" states, passed by the passage of the bill in the Senate yesterday. In place of the Shoppard-Kenyon bill, found today that through a parliamentary error the bill had been brought up for a vote on the floor of the House yesterday. The bill was originally passed by the House, will be necessary.

Whether a rule can be reported and forced through the House in the press of appropriation bills is a grave question.

The bill as passed by the Senate was identical with the House measure, but when it was substituted in the Senate, the number of the Senate bill was allowed to remain on the passed bill. This, according to House Parliamentarian Crisp, makes the measure an entirely new one so far as the House is concerned and it will have to go to the Judiciary committee and take its regular place on the calendar.

To secure consideration for the Senate bill on the floor of the House during the crowded last days of the session another special rule with the same parliamentary fight will be necessary.

Everhart's son is taken east.

Released From Sanatorium; to Come Into Estate of $100,000.

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 11.—The secret of the insanity charge against E. E. Everhart, son of Dr. E. Everhart, former physician in the Confederate service, and who died recently, leaving an estate of $100,000, was revealed this morning when Judge Van Norstrand signed an order for the release of the young man from Dr. Gardner's sanatorium at Belmont, where he was committed by the Insanity Commission.

The release was the result of the coming here of Harry Frois to take him back to Scotland, Pa., where a $100,000 estate is held in trust for him by the Providence Loan and Trust Company. The money was left, according to Frois, to be used by the young man to win back the young man from the great white way and from the effect of strong drink and drugs.

It was represented to the court that an operation might have to be performed on his head to cure his tendencies and it was stated that it was desired to have him in the East. He will leave tonight in charge of two male nurses.

BOARD OF TRADE IS SUED AS TRUST

Sherman Law Invoked to Stop Fixing of Night Grain Prices.

Chicago Center of Commerce in Trouble With Federal Authorities.

CHICAGO, Feb. 11.—The Chicago Board of Trade—the great grain exchange of the United States—was charged by the federal government in a civil anti-trust suit filed here today with violating the Sherman law by arbitrarily fixing, during the hours the exchange is closed, the prices of wheat, corn, oats and rye, to be received in Chicago.

The government's petition in equity asked the United States District Court for a temporary restraining order to be followed, after final preparations, with a permanent injunction prohibiting the fifteen hundred or more members of the board from continuing an alleged unlawful conspiracy to destroy competition and restrain interstate commerce.

MANY DEFENDANTS. Following are named as defendants to the suit:

Board of Trade of the city of Chicago; Edward Andrew, president; Frank B. Rice and Albert E. Cross, vice-presidents; and J. E. Cunningham, Davis S. Lazier, Leslie F. Gates, John Garden, Robert McDougall, Joseph Simons, Adolph Gerstenberg, Benjamin S. Wilson, L. Harry Freeman, Geo. E. Quinn, John A. Rogers, John R. Manf. Wm. L. Gregston, directors of the board.

According to the petition the board dominates and controls the grain market, both as to price and the amount sold and shipped in interstate commerce, and in a large part of Illinois and adjoining states. The petition is signed by Attorney General Wickerson, James Fowler, assistant to the attorney general, and United States Attorney James H. Wilkerson of Chicago.

THREE HOURS' TRADING. Only during about three hours of trading is the price subject to fluctuations. The penalties for violation of this rule by any broker is suspension from the privilege of the board or expulsion. The consequence of this is, violations are few.

The government's contention is that the naming of a call price to govern deals in grain for twenty-one hours each day, suppresses the natural competition that otherwise would exist and results in an artificial inflation of the cost of foodstuffs to the consumer.

It is said the principle of the proceedings is the same as that of the government against the Chicago Butter and Egg Board to compel that organization to cease fixing the prices on these commodities through a quotation committee. The bill is said to have been prepared by District Attorney Wilkerson several months ago and submitted to the Attorney General who gave it his approval.

DECLARES RULE PROMOTES

Regarding the suit filed by the government charging the Chicago Board of Trade of operating in restraint of trade, President Edward Andrew expressed today the opinion that the very rule complained of promotes, instead of stifles, competition.

"Before the board passed the rule that the price of grain at the close of the open session of the board must remain the overnight price until the opening of the regular session the next day, competition all but died," said President Andrew. "Four or five of the heaviest dealers would agree upon their own overnight price. Our rule fixing one price for all has brought about the competition which the law demands, for in place of the former tight little coterie sending out an agreed bid to the country over night there are now three or four hundred traders doing so."

"It is a curious fact for the consideration of the court that the rule which promotes competition and has done away with restraint of trade may, by a legal technicality, be construed as restraining trade. Among members of the board the legality of the rule, but its effect in supporting competition has not been questioned seriously."

DETECTIVE'S WIFE ON WITNESS STAND

Mrs. Bert H. Franklin Testifies in the Darrow Case.

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 11.—The trial of Clarence S. Darrow, former chief counsel for the McNamara brothers, charged with jury bribery, was taken up largely today with arguments over technical points in the re-direct testimony of Samuel J. Brown, county detective, and John R. Harrington, a Chicago attorney, formerly associated with Darrow in the McNamara case.

Mrs. Bert H. Franklin, wife of the former McNamara defense detective, who confessed having bribed jurors, took the witness stand. She testified that Darrow, immediately after Franklin's arrest had said to her: "Do not feel too hard against me, Mrs. Franklin."

TYPHOID VACCINATION TO BE TRIED AT U. C.

Dr. W. A. Sawyer and Dr. George F. Reinhart will carry on the work of immunizing the students by this latest method.

BRIDGE CONCERN TRAGE RECORD OF YOUNG SUSPECTS

Would Enjoin Bank From Paying Check Given to State Board.

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 11.—The Thomson Bridge Company filed a suit against the state Board of Harbor Commissioners and the Bank of California this morning to enjoin the bank from paying out a check for $27,000 made payable to the commission, and to force the board to cancel a bid of the corporation agreeing to construct pier 37 and a bulkhead wharf for the sum of $476,200.

The reason for the action is the illness of Otto J. Crossman, the vice-president and general manager of the Thomson Bridge Company between December 5 and January 23, when he was confined to his bed at his home. It is stated that for 20 years he has done the figuring for the corporation, and that the bid in question had to be submitted January 7. For that reason, it is stated, the work was turned over to J. H. Stack, assistant engineer, who did the estimating.

When Crossman returned to his office, according to the complaint, he found that a mistake had been made and that the figures for the work should have been $535,223.89. The check for $27,000 represented a guaranty of good faith in the performance of the contract.

Ottoman Warship Goes Ashore at Karaburun; Position Is Dangerous

CONSTANTINOPLE, Feb. 11.—A Turkish warship went ashore this morning at Karaburun, on the Black sea coast. Her position is dangerous and she is leaking badly.

LOSSES ARE GREAT.

SOFIA, Bulgaria, Feb. 11.—The Turkish army in the peninsula of Gallipoli lost 6000 men and 30 officers during the fighting at Bulair, according to an official report issued here today.

Several thousand Turkish soldiers are declared to have fallen in a battle before the Tchatalja lines on February 9 and thousands more at Charkei.

Today's report says:

"The Bulgarian army having repulsed several Turkish attacks along the Tchatalja lines, except on the extreme right flank, where they were exposed to the convergent fire from the Turkish warships in the sea of Marmora and the gulf of Buyuk Chekmedje, retired to fresh positions five or six miles to the rear."

BULGARIANS FIRE ACCURATE.

"The losses of the Bulgarians were insignificant while those of the Turks amounted to several thousand men, mainly due to the excellently directed Bulgarian shell fire."

"The Bulgarians are entrenching their positions in front of Bulair. Large bodies of men have been sent out to clear the field of battle of the bodies of Turkish soldiers, which number from 5000 to 6000. It is believed that the number of wounded Turks must be more than 12,000."

"The Turkish warships shelled the Bulgarian left flank all day, but only killed one and slightly wounded another Bulgarian soldier."

SURROUNDED BY BULGARS.

"The Turkish troops which descended upon Charkei, near the port of Rodosto, on Saturday and Sunday, were almost surrounded by the Bulgarian army and were compelled to hastily retire to their transportation under the protection of the Turkish warships."

"The Bulgarian infantry on shore kept up a steady fire on the small boats loaded with Turkish soldiers, inflicting losses amounting to several thousand men. The Bulgarian loss in the whole affair did not exceed 100 killed and wounded."

Gasoline Fishing Sloop Moonlight Torch at Sea Off Cape Flattery.

Crew Escapes in Boat; Cutter Finds Hull Charred to Water's Edge.

SEATTLE, Feb. 11.—The launch Moonlight of Astoria was burned at the water's edge three miles south of Cape Flattery at 7 o'clock last night. The four men of the crew escaped in the lifeboat and reached the light-house at Tatoosh today. News of the fire was received here late last night in wireless messages from the marine observatory on Tatoosh island at the entrance to the strait of Juan de Fuca.

TORCH AT SEA.

The Moonlight passed out southward bound at 6 p. m. An hour later the Tatoosh observer saw the launch, which was then three miles south of Cape Flattery, burst into flames. In the darkness nothing could be seen of the movements of the people on the vessel and in a short time the sea around the burning launch was covered with blazing gasoline, showing that the fuel tank had exploded.

Wireless messages were sent by Tatoosh to the revenue cutter Tahoma at Neah bay. The Tahoma went to the rescue, but found only the charred hull of the launch floating on the water. No sign of the crew was found by the revenue cutter, which cruised about in search of the men for more than an hour. When the fire was first reported the name of the burning vessel was unknown, but this question was solved by the Tahoma, which identified the wreck by the name on her stern.

Shipping men here said they had never heard of the Moonlight and did not know whether it was a fishing launch. It is believed that she was either engaged in trading with settlements along the coast or belonged to the Astoria fishing fleet.

FISHING SLOOP.

ASTORIA, Feb. 11.—The Moonlight was a gasoline fishing sloop, 55 feet long and 14 feet beam. Her crew consisted of a captain and three men, but their names are not known here, as she wintered in Seattle and shipped a new crew there. She was built here early in 1912 and was owned by Astoria and Seaside men.

Mrs. Charles Butters Loses Her Driver for Short Time Through Speeding.

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 11.—Gaston Groulx, chauffeur for Mrs. Charles Butters of Oakland, will not run her automobile during the next 24 hours, and should she desire to attend some function tonight in her machine, she will have to hire another operator. Groulx will spend the evening in the county jail. He will also remain there the greater part of tomorrow, and all because he ran his car too fast along Sutter street. That in itself is not a serious offense the first time one is caught at it, nor is it bad the second time, but this is the third little trip for Groulx, and Judge Deasy, after finding upon arrest that he gave him a fine and ordered him to jail.

Groulx was arrested last night by Officers White and Gransfield at Sutter and Buchanan streets, and the testimony showed that he had been going 25 miles an hour. It is not long since Groulx was fined $25 for a similar offense, on which occasion he told the court that he thought 20 miles an hour was allowable on Sutter street. At that time Mrs. Butters said that it was an outrage that she should be stopped and her car used to catch police officers to a station in order to book the chauffeur.

MOTHER OF LORRAINE HOLLIS
TELLS STORY OF TRAGIC LIFE

LILLIAN LORRAINE HOLLIS (LILLIAN FAIR), ONCE FAMOUS ACTRESS, WHO DIED IN NEW YORK.

Killed Judge Crittenden on Ferryboat in 1870 Because of Unwelcome Attention

RICHMOND, Feb. 11.—Believing herself to be nearing the grave, but wishing first to clear the name of her dead daughter, Lillian Lorraine Hollis, the once famous actress, Lillian Fair, Mrs. L. D. Snyder of this city, who, in 1870 shot and killed Judge A. P. Crittenden on the ferryboat El Capitán, yesterday told the story of her own tragic career since the birth of her daughter, Lillian, in Siskiyou county in 1860.

Mrs. Snyder refutes the stories that have been current to the effect that her daughter, once known as one of the most beautiful women in the United States, died in a tenement house alone and in RUSSIAN FOUND DEAD.

Mrs. Snyder, who is 75 years old, was formerly Mrs. Laura D. Fair, wife of Colonel William D. Fair, a famous attorney of the early days of California and Nevada. Fair was found dead with a bullet in his brain in the offices of Dr. Murphy in San Francisco. The autopsy showed that two shots had been fired, one of which had killed Fair. The mystery as to whether or not Fair had committed suicide or was the victim of a pistol shot was never cleared.

In later years Mrs. Fair became engaged to Crittenden, but on learning that he was a married man, she married Snyder and since 1868 has lived in Richmond.

The tragic events in her life have broken her heart and her health. When the news of her daughter's death reached her she tried to kill herself.

"It is no use keeping up the struggle longer," she said. "I am so weary of it all and there is nothing else now for me to live for. Lillian is gone, my little Fair. I am 75 and I can't last very much longer anyhow."

"Who says she was alone and poverty stricken? Who dares attack her legitimacy of birth? She was the daughter of my husband, Colonel William D. Fair, and was born in Traska, Siskiyou county, in August, 1860."

"She did not die alone, but was under the care of kind friends and the treatment of Dr. Thomas R. English, 65 Central Park West, New York. For a long time she had been ill with a complication of lung troubles and a weak heart, but despite that she has earned her own living by teaching music. She left the stage some years ago."

Mrs. Leonora S. Smith, landlady of the flat occupied by Mrs. Hollis at 133 East Ninety-fourth street, writes to Mrs.

Snyder under date of February 3, telling her of the affairs of her daughter. "And this letter from my Lillian herself will prove that those sensational reports sent out from the East are false," said Mrs. Snyder, referring to the following letter from Miss Hollis:

SENDS LETTER.
New York, Jan. 26, '12.
Dear Mamma: It may be possible for me to get pupils again soon, only I must first get more strength. Your letter has caused me to make a renewed honest fight. I write in haste to keep my work and send love to Mamma mine. The children I have been teaching music will come to see me again before Easter. Write soon please.Mary Mother guard you.
"I presume the only thing left for me to do is to review the whole terrible story," said Mrs. Snyder. "My husband, Colonel Fair, died a year and half after Lillian was born, leaving me in excellent financial circumstances. I went to Virginia City, Nevada, and bought a large rooming house and it was there when my daughter was four years old that I first met Crittenden."

"At that time Crittenden represented himself as a single man and when I left Virginia City he still paid me attention, saying that his wife had died a number of years before. I believed him, but later I found out that it was not so."

"I married Snyder and Crittenden again, and after we were married I had told Snyder before my marriage of the Crittenden incident and he said that if he should bother me after my marriage he would shoot him."

"Crittenden was very attentive and was even so bold as to enter my house. I feared that if my husband should see him there would be murder. Shortly afterward Crittenden sent me a letter saying my husband was paying attention to another woman and was to hire detectives to shadow my husband. He asked if I had any objection, and I said no. One night the detective, McDougall, came to my house and told me that his wife was ready with evidence. Accompanied by two witnesses and the detective, I found my husband with another woman."

SUED FOR DIVORCE.
"I sued for divorce and was granted a decree in three weeks. After it was granted I learned that Snyder had been paid by Crittenden to aid in furthering evidence by which I would be persuaded to sue for divorce. After the trial I accused Crittenden to the fact of having been responsible and he neither denied nor admitted that my accusation was just."

"I told him then that if I ever met him again I would shoot him and I did. I was accused and many of my closest friends told me that I should have shot him a lot sooner. Immediately after the trial I took a flat at the corner of Gough and Hayes streets in San Francisco, where I lived until my daughter was 15 years of age."

DAUGHTER MARRIED.
"Between the ages of 18 and 19 she married Andrew W. Haynes. After it was over I learned that Snyder had been paid by Crittenden to aid in furthering evidence by which I would be persuaded to sue for divorce. After the trial I accused Crittenden to the fact of having been responsible and he neither denied nor admitted that my accusation was just."

"Afterward she went on the stage, playing at the old Alcazar Theater, and never going on the vaudeville stage. She later showed great ability in dramatic work, and went East, where she continued her dramatic work until 1902. Since then she has devoted her time to writing. She was the author of a number of plays, some of which she staged with success."

LOVED THE WEST.
"She enjoyed great success until the past few years, when she had been in ill health. I have heard from her from time to time, and a year or so ago wrote to her that I would try to joinCONSPIRACY CHARGED TO
POSTOFFICE OFFICIALS

Former Postmaster Says He Was Ousted for Refusing to Contribute to Fund

WASHINGTON, Feb. 11.—With the examination of Postmaster Thomas J. Camp of Beebe, Ark., the Senate campaign funds committee today launched into an inquiry of the campaign of 1912.

Details of an assessment upon officeholders in Arkansas by the Republican State committee were described by Camp, who said he recently had been compelled to resign under protest as postmaster at Beebe, Ark.

Camp produced letters signed by Gordon H. Campbell, treasurer of the Republican State committee, demanding a contribution of $39. Camp observed that was 3 per cent of his salary and he did not make the contribution. He sent the first letter to Postmaster General Hitchcock, he said, asking whether he would be removed if he failed to comply with the request. He received no answer, he said, but in November and December received letters from First Assistant Postmaster General Grandfield demanding his resignation.

CHARGES CONSPIRACY.
Reports of two inspectors were said by the postoffice department to have formed the basis for the demand, but Camp, sending his resignation under protest, declared he had been the victim of a conspiracy. The postoffice department charged him with being incompetent, failing to treat patrons properly, not employing sufficient help and discharging an employee without cause.

The letters presented to the committee by Camp were all signed in fac-simile of Gordon H. Campbell's handwriting and were in a general form, with the amount and the name of the addressee filled in. On each envelope was the following notice in large type:

"Notice—This letter not to be opened in a building occupied by the government in the transaction of official business."

QUESTIONED PATRIOTISM.
One letter, dated September 24, 1912, referred to the need for money in the national campaign and said in part:

"You were called on in a previous letter to contribute $39 to the campaign fund. Up to date I have received no remittance. Why? Have you not enough hearty patriotism to respond to this call, as others in our party have responded—not only those who are holding office, but those who are not holding office, who believe in the principles of the party and who want to see the present administration and our splendid prosperity continued? I trust you will not require me to write you another letter, but will respond at once so that we can render the necessary aid to the national committee."

Another letter, also signed with the rubber stamp signature of Campbell, and dated October 8, 1912, said in part:

"I regret exceedingly that you have failed to respond to my urgent and repeated request for financial aid in the present campaign. I hope to receive by return mail your remittance of $39. Please do not compel me to make another call. A Republican reaping the fruits of prosperity brought about by our party's policies is, in my mind, an ingrate when he refuses to aid his party when aid is needed."

LETTER SENT TO WIFE.
Camp showed letters he had received in 1909 asking him to contribute $33, his salary was then $1200. The letter to him was included in a letter to his wife with the admonition to her not to make the delivery of the letter to the postmaster "in a building used as a postoffice or other government offices."

Camp did not make that contribution, he said, and told the inspectors that he had understood from inspectors who had examined his office that affairs were in good shape. Inspector Wynne had told him, he declared, "that he could go into almost any postoffice and make enough irregularity to put persons out of business."

Under questioning by the committee Camp testified that the inspection of his office had been made before any of the letters were received soliciting his campaign contribution. He could not recall of any inspection after he had received and failed to answer the campaign request.

Gordon H. Campbell was present at the hearing today and will testify tomorrow.

C. S. MacMullen Has Fought Hard to Recover Alleged Excess Payments.

C. S. MacMullen lost his suit against Alameda county for the collection of more than $25,000, alleged to be an excess personal taxes collected during the fiscal year of 1909-10, through a decision handed down today by Superior Judge W. H. Waste. MacMullen claimed that the board of supervisors that year had improperly fixed the tax rate and that persons who paid on the basis of assessments were entitled to a refund. With a large number of assignments in his favor, amounting to a sum between $25,000 and $50,000, MacMullen brought suit. His first effort resulted in the suit being thrown out of court. On appeal to the higher court a trial of the case was ordered, with the result that judgment was given the defendant today.

District Attorney Hynes has fought the MacMullen suit for the last five years and the victory is considered an important one for the county, for the reason that it eliminates the possibility of other litigation along the same lines which might be brought out covering a period of many years. Members of the board of supervisors which fixed the rates testified at the trial.

"I realize now that it will not be long before I will join her. I am a woman 75 years of age, and have not a great many years before me. It is for this reason that I desire to set the facts in the case right."

IS SOUGHT FOR OAKLAND

Chamber of Commerce Would Bring 18,000 Here in 1915

The board of directors of the Oakland Chamber of Commerce this morning initiated a movement to secure for Oakland in 1915 the convention of the National Educational Association, comprising 18,000 delegates. In the forthcoming campaign this city will have the support of the California Teachers' Association and the World's Fair commissioners. San Francisco, having already secured the convention, and having its hands full of other conventions during 1915, will co-operate with Oakland in bringing the teachers of the nation to this side of the bay during the exposition year.

Such support was pledged this morning to the directors of the Chamber of Commerce by James A. Barr, secretary of the California Teachers' Association, and superintendent of conventions for the World's Fair commissioners.

WORK TO BE STARTED.

A joint committee representing the Oakland Chamber of Commerce and the Oakland Board of Education will start work at once. The campaign will find its first object in the meeting on February 25 in Philadelphia of the National Association of School Superintendents, when W. J. McClymonds will start the ball rolling in behalf of Oakland. In July the National Educational Association meets either in Atlantic City or Salt Lake, but the decision as to where the 1915 convention will be held will not be made probably until 1914.

Oakland will have the new auditorium, the Hotel Oakland and a special ferry service to the exposition grounds as powerful arguments in her behalf.

AUDITORS TO MEET.

County Auditor F. Garrison called the attention of the directors this morning to the coming state convention of the auditors of the state, which will be held in this city beginning a week from tomorrow and lasting four days. Delegates from each of the fifty-eight counties and members of their families have been invited to accept the city's hospitality. Directors Clay, Hatch and Belling were appointed a committee to act in conjunction with similar committees from the Merchants' Exchange and the Progress and Prosperity committee to entertain the visitors.

George E. Randolph told the directors that Oakland would also play host to the State Medical Association April 15, 16 and 17, and Directors Randolph, Waddell and F. A. Leach were named as a committee to prepare for the physicians. Dr. O. D. Hamlin is the state president of the association.

Interlocutory Decree Granted Railroad Man on Grounds of Desertion.

On the grounds that his wife held stronger affections for his brother than she did for himself, Arthur P. Hunt, a railroad contractor obtained an interlocutory decree of divorce from Lucine Hunt. Plaintiff further stated that his wife had left him within six days after their marriage. Later when he went to Salt Lake and questioned the brother on the matter, he was satisfied of his suspicions, he said.

A. L. Miller was granted a final decree from Lillian Mills on the grounds of Clara E. Walton was granted an interlocutory decree from Henry H. Walton on the grounds of desertion.

MYSTERIOUS FIRE
PUZZLES POLICE

Shots Fired to Attract Attention and Turn in an Alarm.

Investigation is being made by the police of a mysterious fire which was discovered shortly before 2 o'clock this morning in the home of W. H. Allen, 713 Kirkham street. Shots fired by Patrick Allen, brother of the owner of the house, to draw the attention of the police, called Special Policeman Robinson, who turned in a fire alarm when he learned the reason for the shooting.

A box of shavings and paper saturated with coal oil was found by the firemen when they came to extinguish the flames. The matter was reported to the police with a statement that it was believed that the fire must have been of incendiary origin.

The firemen found it difficult at first to trace the fire to its origin. Smoke coming up through the floor of the kitchen and dining room led Assistant Chief Sam Short to cause a hole to be cut in the floor over the threshold between the two rooms.

The box of paper and shavings was found close to the under side of the floor resting on water pipes. Mrs. Allen was unable to give any explanation as to how the box came to be in this position.

Questioned by inspectors Richard McSorley and William Emigh, who were detailed on the case today, Mrs. Allen stated that she did not know whether there was any insurance on the house or not. She stated that her husband's head was thrown out. In the machine were his wife and Mrs. L. Sappington of 51 Carl street, and Mrs. Angelo Sappington, her daughter. None of the women was hurt, but McSorley received abrasions of the forehead and bruise of the foot, which were treated at the Park hospital.

TWO AUTOISTS INJURED
AT McLANE'S BEND

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 11.—Mullatti, a contractor of 1851 Fifteenth street, steering his five-passenger automobile along the main drive last night in Golden Gate park, ran the car off the road. In the machine were his wife and Mrs. L. Sappington of 51 Carl street, and Mrs. Angelo Sappington, her daughter. None of the women was hurt, but McSorley received abrasions of the forehead and bruise of the foot, which were treated at the Park hospital.

WOLGAST AND MANAGER LAUGHING IN THEIR SLEEVES

Not Much Chance of Boxer and Jones Falling Out Over $12,000 Fight.

By THE TIMEKEEPER.
Little credence is to be placed in all this talk about a split between Ed Wolgast and his manager, Tom Jones. The two are just working the old publicity gag and getting away with it, too. Though the dispatches say that Jones took Wolgast to task over the wire from Chicago for agreeing to Coffroth's match, all that Jones really wired when he heard the terms was:

"Congratulations; how did you do it?"

Any time a boxer can get hold of a nine-thousand-dollar guarantee with a privilege which will probably net him close to twelve thousand dollars, despite the fact that he isn't a champion, that boxer has no need for a manager. Jones will reach Chicago today and he and Wolgast will chuckle together in glee in some back room over the way they pulled Coffroth's leg.

Then the two will climb on the radiator and come south, arriving here by Friday. Wolgast will take only six days to train and will enter the ring in good shape and free from the worry of long strain of training.

Harlem Tommy Murphy, Gunner Smith and Jim Buckley have moved to Billy Shannon's camp and opened quarters.

THE McALLISTER CASE.

Jimmie Bohan, maulmaker for the Oakland Whelan, is confident that amateur Bob McAllister will appear for him, if he finally decided to leave the professional ranks. Just now, the promoters are thickly Phan flies around a keg of molasses. Yesterday Coffroth, Jim Griffin, Promoter Lane and Jimmie Bohan were all tramping on McAllister's heels. Lane offered the Olympic man one thousand dollars for four rounds, and Bohan made him by far the most attractive figure of all for a six-round event. McAllister has indicated that he will appear in Oakland if he should finally decide to head the force of his admirers and turn professional.

Jim Corbett was one of those who met McAllister yesterday and at the Corbett dinner last night in San Francisco, given by the Olympic club members in honor of James J. Corbett, the latter quoted De Witt Van Court as predicting that McAllister would be the next champion of the world. Van Court predicted the same thing of Corbett and of Jeffries, so that he is recognized as one of the greatest authorities on the game in the country.

Three Jims May Go

Jim Buckley, Jim Coffroth and Jim Griffin may leave for Los Angeles tonight to take in the Eddie Campi-Kid Williams bout in the south, scheduled for tomorrow. Quite a delegation is also figuring on going from Oakland and San Francisco and by the time the northern sports get there, ringside betting is likely to favor Campi strongly. The San Francisco delegation is expected to be around this section and unless he tires after the fourteenth round stands a good chance to win.

Rivers in Training

Jim Rivers is now in the midst of light training for his bout with Knockout Zivnon at Varsity. Rivers is working on a schedule of light stunts every afternoon out at Doyle's club, preparing himself for about six days of strenuous work with which he will wind up in the training season. A long rest and proper attention to his physical self have put him in condition to start work and Manager Levy says that after a week of light training another week of the strenuous stuff will put him right on edge.

Tip From McGrath

Tim McGrath writes me as follows from Los Angeles, concerning Eddie Campi, who goes into the ring tomorrow with Kid Williams:

"Los Angeles, Feb. 10.—Dear Friend: A few lines to let you know my boy Campi who boxes Kid Williams here on the 12th is in fine shape. I saw Kid Williams the other day and Campi has been on him both in night work and from what the boys say that saw him in action Campi is much faster. With all this in our favor, along with the fact that Campi has been showing with a sparring partner, he should win. From your friend, TIM McGRATH."

Williams is still working under the name of the fans who have watched him in the training camp and compared his training bouts with his record in the ring. But Manager Harry Levy says that Williams is fit to fight the battle of his career and it matters not whether the fans like his chances or prefer Campi.

Fraser Versus Spear

Hughie Fraser, the local 115-pound boy, has at last been matched by the Royal Club contests next Friday night in a bout with a local contender.

MOUNDSMAN FOR U. C.

PITCHER CONKLIN, ONE OF THE TWO REMAINING VETERANS ON THE UNIVERSITY OF CALIFORNIA STAFF NOW THAT FORKER HAS BEEN BARRED.

FORKER'S DISBARMENT SETS CAMPUS IN QUIVER

By MARSHALL EVANS.

UNIVERSITY OF CALIFORNIA, Feb. 11.—Considerable discussion has been going the rounds among the baseball fans at the University of California today following the announcement of yesterday that Bill Forker, the veteran pitcher of the Berkeley nine would not be allowed to compete in the intercollegiate series this year on account of having played professional ball in Bakersfield last summer. The loss of Forker will be a severe blow to the California team, though it is by no means felt without skillful twirlers.

Conklin and Chapman, two pitchers who were instrumental in accomplishing the downfall of Stanford's batemen in the second game of the intercollegiate series last year, are still on the squad to stay and will be a very hard combination to beat. Forker, however, was expected to do a good share of the mound work and his loss is a considerable one.

The disbarment of Forker did not come about by means of a protest of any nature from Stanford, but was instituted by the faculty athletic committee at Berkeley, of which Professor Edmund O'Neill is chairman. Speaking of the incident last night, Professor O'Neill said:

"Forker has not been officially professionalized, and no formality of removing his amateur standing has gone through. His name will simply be omitted from the eligible list which will be sent to Stanford and that is all that will be done."

"We cannot allow men who play summer baseball for money to compete on California teams, and consequently Forker will not play."

In regard to the rumor that Stanford will follow the lead of California and will like similar action against one or two of its players, nothing definite has been heard by anyone in authority at Berkeley. If, however, the names of the players suspected of having played professional ball are included on the eligible list from Palo Alto which will be submitted to the Berkeley authorities shortly before the final series, it is almost certain that there will be a protest or two coming from the Californians.

In the barring of Forker, California is taking a strong stand against the practice of summer baseball which has long been the greatest obstacle in the way of clean amateur baseball in college circles, and it is likely that the present position of the university will have considerable effect on the standing of amateurs in the baseball world of other colleges on the coast. Santa Clara university has recently adopted the same policy and the further growth of the idea is certain to follow.

FRESHMEN ANNOUNCE GAMES.
The schedule for the freshmen nine was given out at Berkeley today. The program arranged for the first year men starts on February 15 and includes considerable amount of playing. The team will play the first opponents for the freshmen on Saturday, February 15, and from that time until the 25th of March, the team will be kept busy with a schedule of 12 games, ending in the final contest with the University of Southern California.

THORPE TROPHIES ARE NOW A DRUG ON MARKET

Sweden Doesn't Want Them, Neither Does the Indian or the A. A. U.

What is the status now of the Jim Thorpe trophies? They were last heard of on the ocean bound for Sweden, to be returned to the secretary of the Olympic games, and he doesn't want them. Neither does Sweden herself and neither, we take it, do the athletes who were beaten by Thorpe in fair competition. The trophies are now a drug on the market. Obviously, after Thorpe had been stripped of his buttons, so to speak, he doesn't want them. Indeed, he doesn't want them. Indeed, he doesn't want them. Indeed, he doesn't want them.

Now, to be sure, Thorpe is a full-fledged professional and on Muggsy McGraw's list of ball players, so that if the Indian makes good, he is at a financial gain. All the same, there is an undesired stigma on his name and he cannot very well like that.

The far reaching effect of the hasty action of the A. A. U. in returning the trophies of victory fairly won to Sweden have peculiar effects on the next Olympic games at Berlin in 1916. The English athletes and London playing men will surely by that time have working a microscope scrutiny regarding the finest details of the amateur standing of any American athlete. In fact, the committee who suggested the combination of professionals and amateurs in the next Olympic games will not be so sure as they are, but it will amount to that by the time that it soaks through. Of course, there will be counter-acting by any sensible American athletic board concerning the eligibility of foreign athletes at the Berlin fest, but this will make nothing for good feeling or genuineness of competition.

We are inclined to the belief that the statute of limitations applies to the Thorpe outfit and that what he won really belongs to him, but that the A. A. U. has made it practically impossible for him to re-accept his hard-earned honors. If something happened so that the Thorpe trophies en route had to be jettisoned to lighten the load of the ship, that might be a way out. Or in.

TENNIS RESULTS.
SAN DIEGO, Feb. 11.—The semi-finals in the men's singles of the Coronado tennis tournament today were two exciting matches with William Johnston playing Clarence Griffin, and John Strachan matched with Nat C. Browne. Johnston found Griffin a stiff opponent, but with the racket, although he won in straight sets. Strachan also beat Browne, a worthy rival, whose deliberate, steady game kept him guessing on the change of pace.

Miss Florence Sutton won her semi-final match with Mary O. Hall. Miss Bruce was also successful in her semi-final in a stubbornly contested sets with Miss Gertrude Birch.

COOPER BREAKS RECORD.
FRESNO, Feb. 11.—Earl Cooper of Fresno broke the 75 and 200-mile records for a one-mile circular dirt track in a Stutz '40' here yesterday afternoon, making the former in 1:17.05 and over that of 1:14.44 made by Strang of Columbus, Ohio, in a Buick, July 3, 1909. The time for the 200 miles was 3:28.05, against the A. A. U. record of 3:28.05. The race was sanctioned by the A. A. U., with E. H. Cheffins of San Francisco as referee. Only one stop was made during the 200-mile run. No tire changes were made.

BOOST FOR SMOKY JOE.
BOSTON, Feb. 11.—"Smoky" Joe Wood, the premier twirler of the Boston American League team, signed tonight a contract for the coming season which provides for an advance of salary over that paid him last year.

MRS. DILLINGHAM WINS.
SAN DIEGO, Feb. 11.—Mrs. W. F. Dillingham, wife of the Captain Dillingham of the All-Hawaiian polo team, won the prizes in the approaching and putting contests in the women's championship golf tournament at Coronado, and also qualified for the championship final.

ST. PAUL MAN WINS.
ST. PAUL, Minn., Feb. 11.—Theodore Peter of St. Paul won last night the light heavyweight wrestling championship of America from Fred Beal of Marshfield, Wis. Beal won the first fall in 12 seconds, but was out of the ring in a lock and reverse body hold.

CHANCE AT FIRST; CHASE TO PLAY SECOND

NEW YORK, Feb. 11.—Frank Chance and Muggsy McGraw, managers of the rival New York ball teams, met yesterday evening and congratulated each other. Chance announced that he intended to come back into the game, saying: "I am going to play first and second and hope to be in the opening game. I feel in fine shape and my head does not bother me any more. I am positive I can manage the team better as a player than I can as a manager. Chase will play second and I feel confident that his speed will overcome the handicap of his being left-handed."

BASEBALL MAGNATES HAVE YAWNING SESSION

NEW YORK, Feb. 11.—With no important decisions to hand down and no long arguments to hear, the National Commission—the supreme court of baseball—had a placid session this afternoon. The history of baseball has been less business before it. The National League Clubs owners meeting this afternoon had before them ratification of the 1912 schedule and some proposed changes in the constitution.

McDERMOTT GOING SOUTH.
NEW YORK, Feb. 11.—Jack McDermott, the national open golf champion, will start south tomorrow for a two-week tour as a preliminary to his departure for the British championship.

It is learned here that the Country Club of Havana, Cuba, has arranged for the first time for an invitation golf tournament, which is expected to be an annual fixture. It is held from February 18 to 22 inclusive, with three valuable trophies offered.

CATCHER HENRY HURT.
WASHINGTON, Feb. 11.—John Henry, the star catcher of the Washington Americans, it developed today, is under treatment for a severe injury to his right knee. The injury was sustained on the coast of California when he was operating on a floating cartilage in the knee joint, which had been torn loose from the knee joint. Under the old A.A.U. LIVE COMMENT AND GOSSIP

BY BILLY FITZ.

Gotch says he will come from retirement if the public demands it. Ain't the stillness awful?

The fact that the Wolgast-Murphy bout was staged so suddenly obviates the necessity of employing press agents to bridge the interval between signing time and getting time. For which we humbly praise providence. Some of the Barnum stunts worked in connection with Luther McCarthy merited life sentences.

What's the matter with a gallery of immortals in the sporting world? We suggest Bill Squires, "Mysterious Mitchell," K. O. Brown and Doc Frost.

A Chicago sporting scribe solemnly warns his brethren that when Mrs. Bat Nelson declares that her husband will not fight again she is not saying now. (Careful! Peter I thought you croaked.)

John McGraw is said to have paid Glen Warner of Carlisle $2500 for tipping him off to Jim Thorpe. And they say advice is cheap!

Words comes from Washington that fellows who played baseball with Jim Thorpe say he is the biggest joke in a uniform they ever saw. All the same, Thorpe will get $2500 back out of the gate receipts the first time Thorpe is advertised to pitch.

St. Looney fans are all fussed up because some rent who comes from Ireland has discovered that Roger Bresnahan's right arm is Brosnan, and that he's a descendant from a race of kings. How the old boxing office will boom with $120,000 Charles, Jim Thorpe and King Brogan all doing business.

Why can't President Leavitt get busy? Can't we find some one on the Oaks whose forty-fifth cousin shaved Confucius? Maybe Fitz quaffs soup with his left nut.

Duffy Lewis, the Boston outfielder, has three Red Sox contracts in his inside pocket, and he isn't satisfied yet. He will go to Bealand personally, where he can be lamed with best publicity.

After a careful review of what Frank Chance intends to do with the Yankees—as outlined by prophets—the 1912 lineup probably will be as follows: Ford, catcher; Sweeney, pitcher; Chase, first base; Winter, second base; Chase, third base; Chance, shortstop; McGraw, center; Connel and Derrick, outfielders. There may be another combination which has right inside the gate receipts. The "probable line-ups" one may said by at least one station in compiling the count.

Ever since Magnate Murphy of Chicago announced that he intended to start the Chicago ball games at 2 o'clock instead of 3, out of consideration for the indignant

OAKLAND WAS NOT EVEN ASKED TO JOIN, SO DIDN'T REFUSE

No League Meeting Was Ever Called and All Ewing Ever Said Was "Aw H---I."

By BILLY FITZ.

If some one will please step forth and give us the low down on this proposed baby league, he will be conferring a benefit upon a suffering baseball public and clear up a muddle that begins to look rather ridiculous. Right now there is a tremendous amount of smoke concerning the new organization and apparently very little fire.

For some mysterious reason, the Southern sports writers have been waffling historical lately and have been sending out stories galore, informing the public that what a magnificent benefit Sunday afternoon baseball would be to the new league. A dispatch from Los Angeles some time ago informed us in Oakland that we had agreed to join a team in the new league. Three days later we were informed, also by a Los Angeles telegram, that President Al Baum had decided to enter the league, and that in consequence President Al Baum had decided to withdraw Vallejo into the fold.

Since then there has been a telegram every hour or so from the south changing the rating of the league, the number of games each week, and placing every town in the country from Vallejo to Hog Hollow on the proposed circuit.

BLAMING OAKLAND.
Columns after columns in the Los Angeles press is devoted to the class C or class D or class some other letter league, and Oakland is being raked over the coals for refusing to come in and take part.

Just why Los Angeles should be telling us what we are going to do, or not going to do is one of the mysterious things that you have to blame upon the climate. Prexy Baum went down there three days ago, and ever since we have been getting daily interviews from him, though he is back where we can see him every day and get first hand information whenever the occasion demands.

HOW COULD WE REFUSE?
It seems time now to put a stop to all the hysterics and state some plain facts. The management of the Oakland club has not been asked to join the league, and therefore has never accepted or declined any proposition in that connection. In fact, the management of the Oakland club does not even know what is contemplated by such a proposed league.

There has been no conference with President Al Baum, or J. Cal. Ewing, though Baum one day, when he came over to look at the new ball park, asked Leavitt casually what he thought of a smaller league, and Leavitt told him he might consider it if the matter ever came up.

WHAT CAL. SAID.
To the writer's knowledge, the only thing about a class C league that J. Cal. Ewing ever said was "Aw, hull!" That was about a month ago, when Ewing was asked how he stood on the matter. If Ewing has changed his mind since then, the writer has no knowledge of the fact. President Al Baum is the only man who, seems at all enthusiastic over the idea, and Baum does not intend to increase any more in it. He wants the other fellows to do so, while willing to admit quite candidly that they will lose money every year.

If Henry Barry of Los Angeles and Ed Maier of Venice are really interested in any minor league, they have not said so, though that impression has been created by Los Angeles papers. We have seen, however, how those same southern writers have undertaken to express views on the subject of the proposed league, so not much credence can be placed on their representations of how Barry and Maier feel about it.

OLD LOVE STUFF.
To a man up a tree, it looks as though President Baum and one or two over zealous scribblers constitute the entire baby league. The fact that the league is being created by Los Angeles papers, we have seen, however, how those same southern writers have undertaken to express views on the subject of the proposed league, so not much credence can be placed on their representations of how Barry and Maier feel about it.

What Oakland wants is more than two classes of the league, and it is going to have them, too, next year or the year after. If Los Angeles is so sanguine of the success of a baby league and so indignant that we have seen, however, how those same southern writers have undertaken to express views on the subject of the proposed league, so not much credence can be placed on their representations of how Barry and Maier feel about it.

WHERE HE GOT IT.
As a matter of fact, Baum has really been telegraphing Oakland, and intended to do so or what it wouldn't do, the source of his information lies on that side of the bay and not on this.

Though Ewing and Ish no longer control the Oakland club they have never said that they did not still hold quite a lot of stock in the club. Ewing and Baum have been chinning confidentially but neither has any license to speak for Oakland or to act for the Oakland management.

The latest story concerning the league prodding is that Baum had called a meeting for tomorrow at which he would represent the Oakland club at the meeting.

NO MEETING CALLED.
As a matter of fact, there is going to be no meeting of that kind, and no has come to the Oakland management about any meeting in San Jose. Hogan is going to see the president of the league to visit his home and relatives. Wolverton is going back to Sacramento and not to San Jose, so it looks as though the league is not going to be the baby league may come, but the maternal labors seem to be something weird and awful.

YOKEL THE WINNER.
MILWAUKEE, Minn., Feb. 11.—Mike Yokel of Salt Lake City, won the middle-weight championship wrestling title from Walter Miller of St. Paul. Yokel took the first fall in one hour and ten minutes and the second in 15 minutes.

Clogged Bowels a Menace to Health

Constipation at the Bottom of Most Serious Illness; Avoided by a Simple Remedy.

Trace the origin of the commoner ills of life and almost invariably you will find that constipation was the cause. It is not to be expected that a mass of fermented food can remain in the system beyond its time without vitiating the blood and affecting the nerves and muscles. It congests the entire body.

The results are colds, fevers, piles, headaches and nervousness with its accompanying indigestion and sleeplessness. There is only one thing to do, and that is to remove the trouble, and as nature seemed unable to do it, outside aid is necessary. You will find the best of all outside aids a remedy that many thousands are now using for this very purpose, called Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin. Many hundreds of letters are received by Dr. Caldwell telling of the good results obtained, and among the enthusiastic letters is one from John Wood of Little River Academy, North Carolina, who suffered with constipation and indigestion so badly that she could not sleep well at night and everything she ate distressed her. She writes that after her mother had given her Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin she "can now eat anything."

It has untold advantages over pills, salts and the various coarse cathartics and purgatives, for while these do but temporary good, Syrup Pepsin cures permanently. The effect of its action is to train the stomach and bowel muscles to do their work naturally again, and in a short time all forms of medicine can be dispensed with. It can be bought without inconvenience at any nearby drugstore for fifty cents and one dollar a bottle, the latter size being regularly bought by those who already know its value. Results are always guaranteed or money will be refunded.

COST OF SENDING COIN BY WIRE TO BE LOWERED

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 11.—The Western Union Telegraph Company, on March 1, will materially cut the price of sending money by telegraph between its 44,000 offices which are authorized to forward money. This change, of course, is to be made only with the consent of the state railroad commission, and embraces a schedule which gives a reduction of over 30 per cent in the cost of telegraphing reductions increase by a graduated scale until they reach a cut of 50 per cent and over. The telegraph company officials say that a notable increase in the business of transferring money by telegraph, it having almost doubled in the last few years, makes the sweeping reduction possible.

CUPID IS ACTIVE; MARRIAGES MANY

Report of Statistician Shows More Weddings in This State.

SACRAMENTO, Feb. 11.—If the activity of Cupid is any indication of prosperity and happiness then 1912 was the most bountiful year for far since matrimonial records have been kept by the State. The figures of Statistician George Leslie of the State Board of Health show that during 1912 the marriages increased by 11.6 per cent, against 9.5 per cent, the amount of increase in 1911, the previous banner year. The number of marriages last year was 31,276, an increase of 2973 from the year 1911.

In the seven years' period since registration began the only decrease in marriages was for 1908, when leap year shyness, Leslie says, and general business depression proved to be bars to matrimony. The remarkable gain in marriages for the last leap year, 1912, are ascribed by Leslie to the enfranchisement of California women or to general good times.

TELLS 'CHRISTIANS' TO CALL A HALT

Those Who Seek Rest Severely Censured by Cardinal Gibbons.

BALTIMORE, Md., Feb. 11.—Cardinal Gibbons said last night that it is time that some of those calling themselves Christians call a halt on their lack of respect for the season of Lent and their utter disregard for the rules and observances of the season. "Those who go to the seaside, to the mountains or to some other resort to spend the Lenten season when they consider everything 'dead' are to be censured," the cardinal declared. "They are not obeying the command of the church to spend this holy season in repentance for their sins. They imagine that by going off to some restful place they are observing the rules which forbid social gayeties. They are as much to blame as those who dance and enter into other forms of amusement. Dances, card parties, theaters and every other form of amusement should be cast aside for the forty days."

BOHNETT LEADS IN BILL HONORS

San Jose Assemblyman Introduces 86 Measures in Legislature.

SACRAMENTO, Feb. 11.—Assembly histories published yesterday show that L. D. Bohnett of San Jose, one of the three progressive candidates for speaker, who retired from the contest in favor of Young of Berkeley, has topped all other assemblymen in the number of bills introduced. Bohnett's total reaches 86. His next nearest competitor for the honors is H. Stanley Benedict of Los Angeles, chairman of the judiciary committee, and also a candidate for the speakership.

Assemblyman H. W. Brown of San Mateo county, and W. C. Clark of Hayward, Alameda county, are tied for third honors with sixty-five bills each. Ellis of Riverside is next with sixty-two bills and Inman of Sacramento is close at the southern member's heels with fifty-nine measures.

BUSH'S TOTAL SMALLEST.
Assemblyman Bush of San Francisco holds the record for the smallest number presented. His total sums up just three bills. Richard C. Eubank of Fresno is Bush's nearest rival as the author of the minimum amount of legislation proposed, with a grand total of four bills.

Emmons of Los Angeles with six bills and Nolan of San Francisco with seven bills, make up the other authors who did not strive for a record.

To the judiciary committee, as usual, will fall the honor of first considering the greatest number of bills. A total of 558 measures has been referred to this committee. The Ways and Means or other committees for consideration at the latter half of the session.

Appropriation bills which do not require the endorsement of the judiciary or any other committee number 153 have been referred to the Ways and Means committee. In addition, three joint resolutions carrying appropriations are to be considered by this committee.

Oil industries and mines and mining are to committees to which have been referred the smallest number of bills.

The Best Cough Syrup is Easily Made at Home

Cure Little and Act Quickly. Money Refunded if It Fails.

This recipe makes a pint of cough syrup, and saves you about $2.00 as compared with ordinary cough remedies. It stops obstinate coughs—even whooping cough—in a hurry, and is splendid for sore lungs, asthma, croup, hoarseness and other throat troubles.

Mix one pint of granulated sugar with 1/2 pint of warm water, and stir for 2 minutes. Put 2 1/2 ounces of Pinex (fifty cents' worth) in a pint bottle, and add the Sugar Syrup. Take a teaspoonful every two, three or four hours. Tastes good.

This takes right hold of a cough and gives almost instant relief. It stimulates the appetite, and is slightly laxative, both excellent features.

Pinex, as perhaps you know, is the most valuable concentrated compound of Norway white pine extract, rich in ginseng and the other natural healing pine elements.

A quantity of absolute satisfaction or money promptly refunded, goes with this recipe. Your druggist has Pinex, or will get it for you. If not, send to The Pinex Co., Ft. Wayne, Ind.

CLEAN YOUR LIVER AND 30 FEET OF BOWELS WITH 'SYRUP OF FIGS'

More Effective Than Calomel, Castor Oil or Salts; Gently Cleanses the Stomach, Liver and Bowels Without Nausea or Griping; Children Dearly Love It.

You know when your liver is bad, when your bowels are sluggish. You feel a certain dullness and depression, perhaps the approach of a headache, your stomach feels sour and full of gas, tongue coated, breath foul, you have indigestion. You say, "I am bilious or constipated and I must take something tonight."

Most people shrink from a physician—they think of castor oil, calomel, salts or cathartic pills.

It's different with Syrup of Figs. Its effect is as that of fruit; of eating coarse food; of exercise. Take a teaspoonful of delicious Syrup of Figs tonight and you won't realize you have taken anything until morning, when all the clogged up waste matter, sour bile and constipation poisons move on and out of your system, without griping, nausea or weakness.

Nothing else cleanses and regulates your sour, disordered stomach, torpid liver and thirty feet of waste-clogged bowels like gentle, effective Syrup of Figs. Don't think you are dragging yourself. Being composed entirely of luscious figs, senna and aromatics, it cannot cause injury.

If your child is cross, sick and feverish, or its little stomach sour, tongue coated, give Syrup of Figs at once. It's really all that is needed to make children well and happy again. They dearly love its pleasant taste.

Ask your druggist for the full name, "Syrup of Figs and Elixir of Senna," and look on the label for the name—California Fig Syrup Company, Inc., and that only is the genuine. Refuse any other fig syrup substitute with contempt.

SAYS JERUSALEM WILL BE CAPITAL

Pastor Speaks of War and Its Relation to Bible Prophecy.

Jerusalem is to be the capital of the Turkish empire, according to the statement made by Pastor B. E. Beddoe in his sermon at the Oakland Seventh Day Adventist church, Twenty-fifth street and Telegraph avenue, last night. He said that the prophecy of the ninth chapter of Revelation foretells the rise and development of the Turkish empire, and that the prophecy of Daniel foretells its downfall and extinction. He said in part: "For about 75 years, Turkey has been dependent on the powers of Europe for her existence, and she would have been absorbed by the powers long before this had not their designs been rendered inoperative by their jealousy. The prophet said, 'Yet he shall come to his end, and none shall help him.'"

"More than 50 years ago the Seventh Day Adventist denomination, on the strength of this prophecy, took the position that the Ottoman empire would finally be crushed, blotted out, and that it would plant its capital between the seas in the eastern half of the world. The trend of events in the Far East at the present time seems to be a step in that direction."

When the Turk loses Constantinople, he may not at once move his capital to Jerusalem. He may plant it in some other place for a time. But finally the prophet of God saw him planted in a place 'between the seas. In the glorious holy mountain.' He also saw that the Turk would 'come to his end, and that none would help him.'"

Last night's sermon was the second of a series of Pastor Beddoe's on the subject of the Turkish Empire. The service begins at 7:30.

Nightly she coughed, and it was necessary to clear her throat every once or twice every night. Her coughing, however, was not so bad as that which she expected that she would not be able to live.
